openhagen, July 2. His Majeſty has made lately a Grand Mili- Promotion. Two Couriers have paſſed through this City for Courts of Paris and Berlin, with Diſpatches that are ſaid to be the laſt Importance. A Rumour prevails, as if a new Defen- Alliance was on the Carpet between certain Northern Crowns.

aris, July 9. The Grand Chamber at Pontoiſe remains firm in r Reſolution, not to reſume their ordinary Buſineſs till the Chambers are reſtored. The reſt of the Parliaments through- the Kingdom continue their Proceedings againſt ſuch of the beaded Clergy as refuſe the Sacraments to dying Perſons. The n of War and Frigate, ſent to the Coaſt of Guiney, are re- ned to Port L'Orient, with an Account, that they found Engliſh Squadron at Anamaboa, where the new Fort is in a ner finiſhed.

Madrid, June 20. The frequent Rains we have had here from Beginning of this Month, have changed our Fears of a bad o the Hopes of a good Harveſt; and the Price of Bread in this ital is conſiderably diminiſhed.

Paris A-la-main, July 13. Laſt Monday was publiſhed an Ar- of the Parliament ſitting at Pontoiſe, which ſuppreſſes a Pam- let, intituled, "The very humble Remonſtrances of the Parlia- nt to the King."

The next Day a Sentence of the Chatelet was publiſhed for ſup- ſſing a Pamphlet, intituled, "The Repreſentations made to the ncellor, the Provoſt of Paris, his Lieutenant, the Officers of Chatelet and Preſidial Seat of Paris;" whereby they who have Copies, are enjoined to bring them to the Regiſter of the atelet, and to inform againſt the Printer and Venders of ſuch mphlet.

Nantz, July 7. The Trade of the French Ships on the Coaſt of rica has increaſed ſo much for ſome Years, that there was a ceſſity to protect it laſt Year, by ſending ſome Men of War d Frigates for this Purpoſe: On their Arrival on the Coaſt of uiney they found four Engliſh Men of War, from ſixty to four- Pieces of Cannon; they alſo ſaw a great Number of Work- en, who were landed from theſe Veſſels, and were building Forts the Side near Anamaboa. At the Appearance of theſe French ips, the Engliſh put themſelves in a Diſpoſition for an En- gement; but the French, finding their committing Hoſtilities uld be of no Signification, were content to remain on the De- ſive. One of their Ships and a Frigate are returned to Breſt, ere the Captains have reported that the Engliſh have taken all nner of Precaution to maintain themſelves on that Side of uiney, and appeared to be reſolved to ſuſtain an Army at Hand, cluſive of Traders, who are eſtabliſhed at Anamaboa.

Schaffouſen, July 12. The Republick of Genoa, in order to iſfie the Inhabitants of San Remo for their Revolt, has cauſed the Magiſtrates to be impriſon'd, impoſed a Fine of 200,000 res upon the Town, taken away their Archives and Arms, and ppointed the Effects to be confiſcated of ſuch Inhabitants who have the Place, in caſe they do not return to their Habitations thin eight Days.

Liſbon, June 27. Several Algerine Corſairs, who cruize in the outh of the Tagus, were bold enough to come up the river a few ys ago as far as Caſcais Fort, in order to ſeize ſome Ships that re freighted for this Port: but they miſcarried in their attempt, oſe Ships having got under the cannon of the fort before the Alge- ns could come up with them. Upon this news the Government as reſolved to fit out again two men of war, to clear the coaſt of oſe Barbarians.

Venice, July 21. We hear our Treaty with the Algerines is in eat Forwardneſs. By Virtue of this Treaty, on furniſhing them th a certain Quantity of Warlike Stores, and Merchandiſes, un- the Title of Preſents, like other Chriſtian Powers, we ſhall entitled to the ſame Privileges. The good Offices of the Otto- n Porte in this Affair are a Proof of the Sultan's Diſpoſition to intain a good Underſtanding with the Republic.

The Commiſſaries appointed by the Government to take an Ac- nt of our Sea and Land Forces, have reported, that the latter count to 28,977 Regular Troops; and that the former conſiſt of rteen Men of War, twenty Galeaſſes, and twenty-five Galleys, ides ſome ſmaller Veſſels.

Bruſſels, July 31. It is ſtrongly reported that three new national giments will ſpeedily be raiſed. The Colonels, it is ſaid, are eady named. We hear a ſmall Camp will alſo be formed near Mons.

Stockholm, July 14. A Congreſs will be ſpeedily held for terminating the Differences between this Court and that of Moſcow, with Reſpect to the Frontiers in Finland. Orders have been ſent to Carelſcroon, upon the Riſing of an extraordinary Aſſembly of the Senate, to hold the Squadron in that Port ready to put to Sea at an Hour's Warning.

Madrid, July 16. Our Court is ſtrongly inclined to prohibit Commerce with the Subjects of the King of Denmark: A Reſolution on this Head is only ſuſpended till his Majeſty gets full Proof, that the laſt Convention between Denmark and the King of Morocco does not allow the Danes greater Favours and Privileges than are granted in that Country to other European trading Nations.

Freſh Orders are ſent down to all the King's Yards and Docks to haſten the Equipment of the Men of War, his Majeſty being reſolved to augment his Naval Forces in America by one Third, in order to ſuppreſs all Contraband Commerce in the Spaniſh Weſt-Indies.

Hamburgh, Auguſt 3. The ſame Reaſon that occaſioned a Suſpe...on of Commerce between our City and Spain, has juſt cauſed, 'tis ſaid, all Correſpondence to be broke off between that Kingdom and Denmark: Yet his Daniſh Majeſty does not intend to make any Alteration in Regard to his Treaties with the Barbary Regencies, and we are aſſured he has ſent Orders to Baron Wenſen, his Miniſter at Madrid, to come away without taking Leave of that Court, and at the ſame Time has forbidden all his Subjects to frequent the Ports of his Catholick Majeſty.

Hamburgh, Auguſt 4. Our laſt Advices from the Frontiers of Turkey continue to aſſure us of great Motions on the Side of Oczakow; the Crim Tartars are alſo in Arms.

Cracow, July 23. The laſt Letters from the Turkiſh Frontiers, adviſe, that the Grand Signior has obliged the Hoſpodars of Moldavia and Walachia to exchange Poſts with each other. In vain the Southern Politicians endeavour to make the People of the North eaſy in Regard to the Intentions of the Porte, all the Diſpoſitions making on the Side of Oczakow, together with the Motions of the Crim Tartars, give too much Room to ſuſpect that the Turkiſh Miniſters want to lull their Neighbours to ſleep by repeated Aſſurances of the Grand Signior's pacifick Intentions.

Paris, July 31. The Prince of Conti, 'tis ſaid, has declined meddling further in the Affair of the Parliament; and Count Fitz-James, Biſhop of Soiſſons, Son of the late famous Marſhal Duke of Berwick, is now labouring to effect what the ſaid Prince will no longer attempt, viz. a Reconciliation between the King and the Parliament. On this Occaſion they talk of aſſembling ſome of the moſt moderate of our Prelates, and ſetting them to confer with a Committee of the Grand Chamber, and other upright Magiſtrates, to the End that they may in Concert draw up ſome Preliminaries for an Accommodation.

Baſtia, July 21. Two Companies of Genoeſe being ſent out towards Terra di Nonza, to ſcour the Country, and one of them falling in with a flying Squadron of Corſicans, a furious and bloody Combat enſued, in which the Genoeſe were beat, and obliged to ſurrender at Diſcretion, their Captain being killed. The other Company hearing of this Affair, haſted back to this Place with the News.

Vienna, July 28. Some Advices from Turkey mention certain Motions that cannot be looked upon but as Preparations for a War; which renders the Miniſters of the Chriſtian Powers at Conſtantinople very attentive to the Meaſures of the Porte.

Bruſſels, Auguſt 6. The Camp which our Troops are to form near Mons, will conſiſt only of 10,000 Men: But the Number which the French purpoſe to aſſemble between Douay and Liſle, will amount to near 30,000.

Moſcow, July 21. A Courier is lately arrived here from the Governor of Aſtracan, with the News, that the Commerce with this Empire, and the Kingdom of Perſia, is opened again, ſo much that the Caravans may go and return with Safety.

Madrid, July 23. By Letters from Barcelona there is Advice of an Engagement which happened lately near the Iſland of Sicily, between four Malteſe Gallies and four Algerine Chebeques. The former defended themſelves with the greateſt Bravery, but were at length near being overpowered by the ſuperior Strength of their Enemies Ships, when they were fortunately joined by the St. Vincent, one of their Men of War. The Arrival of this Ship decided the Conteſt, after an obſtinate Fight, in Favour of the Malteſe, who ſunk two of the Chebeques, and took one; the fourth, with Difficulty, made its Eſcape. The Malteſe loſt twenty Knights in the Engagement, and three hundred private Men. Yeſterday Advice came, by an Expreſs from Cadiz, that five Regiſter-Ships were arrived in that Bay, one of which is ſaid to be immenſely rich.

Paris-a-la-main, Auguſt 6. The People are very impatient to know who are to compoſe the Chamber of Vacations. It is aſſured that it has been propoſed to ſeveral Tribunals, particularly to the Grand Council, to the Maſters of Requeſt, and to the Chatelet; but we don't know what Anſwers they gave.

The India Company is in daily Expectation of hearing of the Arrival at Port l'Orient of four Ships, viz. two from Bengal, and two from Pondicherry. By the two laſt, 'tis thought, they will be informed of the Fate of the Prince.

M. de Feugeres, Exempt of the Corps des Gardes, having laſt Week been ſent by the King to the Parliament of Rouen, and upon going into the Chamber of their Aſſembly, he demanded the moſt honourable Place. The Members in order to ſatisfy him, gave him that under the oldeſt Deans of the Counſellors, but that did not content him, ſo he placed himſelf in the Middle of them, and there preſented the Court with a Lettre de Cachet, which enjoined the Members to eraze from their Regiſter, the laſt Arret, which the Court refuſing to do, he preſented another Lettre de Cachet, whereby the King authoriſed him to cauſe the Regiſter to be delivered to him, which was accordingly brought, and as he himſelf was going to execute the Orders which were contained in that Letter, the Members roſe, in order to retire: Upon which M. de Feugeres repreſented to them, that this Action favoured of Diſobedience to the Orders of his Majeſty. They then aſked him, whether it was mentioned in the Lettre de Cachet, that they ſhould be preſent. To which he anſwered, that it was not. They therefore roſe and ſeparated. It is thought that the Arret in Queſtion is, that which fined the Biſhop of Evreux ſix thouſand Livres.

Auguſt 10. We hear, that the Parliament of Aix, has cauſed a Prieſt of the Pariſh near that City to be whipped and marked, for refuſing the Sacraments.

They write from Quebec, in Canada, that there has been an Inſurrection among the Inhabitants of that City, who had committed great Outrages. We daily expect to hear a more circumſtantial Account of this Affair.

Legborn, July 27. According to the Advices from Corſica, the Malecontents have formed a flying Camp in the Province of Balagna, for the Maintainance of which they have demanded of the ſeveral Communities in the Iſland, a Contribution of a Livre from every Houſe. The Marquis de Grimaldi, Commiſſary from the Republick of Genoa, was no ſooner informed of this, but he ſent a Detachment of Troops to oblige thoſe who had ſubmitted to the above Contribution, to pay another to him of two Livres for each Houſe. Capt. Caſtiglion, who had the Command of this Detachment, fell into an Ambuſcade of the Malecontents, againſt whom he defended himſelf with great Bravery, but his Antagoniſts being reinforced, and he killed, his Troops were put in Diſorder, by which Means they were defeated, and ſeveral of them made Priſoners. The Money amounting from the Contribution which that Officer had raiſed with great Rigour fell into the Hands of the Malecontents, who, after they had diſarmed and ſtript their Priſoners, ſent them back to Baſtia in that Condition.

Genoa, July 28. They write from Baſtia, that ſeveral Iſlanders, who appeared well affected to the Republick, have lately pulled off the Maſk, by openly declaring for the Rebels.

Vienna, Auguſt 1. The Baron de Becker, Miniſter from the Palatine Court, is gone to make a Tour to Manheim; and it is thought, with ſome Foundation, that his Errand is to get freſh Inſtructions for the Accommodation which has been ſo long negociating; from whence it is concluded that the Election of a King of the Romans ſtill meets with ſome Obſtacles.

Couriers arrive frequently from Spain, and 'tis evident that ſome new Negociation is upon the Carpet, though 'tis not eaſy to find out the Subject of it. Some People are of Opinion, that the Affair in Queſtion is the Treaty of Commerce which was propoſed ſome Time ago, between the States of his Catholick Majeſty and thoſe of their Imperial Majeſties in Italy: Others think that they are endeavouring to add Weight to the Treaty of Aranjuez by the Acceſſion of the Duke of Modena, which muſt naturally follow the Convention which the Prince has made with our Court. Be this as it will, the Count de Migazzi continues to be very favourably received at Madrid.

They write from Conſtantinople that the Court has been greatly alarmed by the Grand Signior's being taken ill, but that he is ſince perfectly recovered.

Vienna, Auguſt 4. 'Tis aſſured that the Departure of Duke Charles of Lorrain for the Low Countries is fix'd for the 18th of next Month.

Ratiſbon, July 30. It is believed that at this Sitting of the Diet Meaſures will be taken for putting the Fortreſs of Philipſbourg in a good Condition.

Rouen, Auguſt 4. The Meſſengers ſent by the Parliament to ſignify to the Biſhop of Evreux the Decree for that Prelate perſonally to appear, was arreſted and ſent to Priſon by the Deputy of the Intendant of Alenſon: Immediately after this Meſſenger was viſited by all the Officers of the Bailiage, and of the Hotel de Ville, and by Perſons ſent from the Duke de Bouillon, with all ſorts of Proviſions. He has ſent a circumſtantial Relation of the ill Succeſs of his Commiſſion. The Parliament being affected with what has befallen him, have made his Wife a Preſent of ten Louis d'Ors, and have directed him to want for nothing, for that he ſhall be indemnified, and that the Court will make his Cauſe their own.

The Inhabitants of San Remo, who have had their Privileges and their Archives taken from them, and paid a conſiderable Contribution to expiate their Revolt, have been made to undergo another Humiliation, having been oblig'd to deliver up a great Bell, which was in the Houſe where the Magiſtrates held their Meetings, and which uſed to be rung when the Council aſſembled. The Inhabitants of Voltri, and of the neighbouring Mountain, ſeem'd very much inclin'd to mutiny; but the Treatment which thoſe of San Remo met with, made too ſtrong an Impreſſion upon them to permit them to purſue their firſt Intentions.

LONDON.

July 19. Thurſday a great Number of Perſons of Diſtinction, among whom were the Speaker of the Houſe of Commons, and ſeveral Admirals, attended a conſiderable Time at the Admiralty, to ſee ſome Experiments tried for finding out the Longitude.

Tueſday was brought out of Chatham Dock, the Centurion Man of War of 60 Guns, after a thorough Repair: She is ordered to be rigged and manned for Sea-Service with all Expedition. There is one of 90 Guns, one of 80, two of 70, and two of 60 now building in that Yard, beſides two of 70 and three of 50 repairing.

July 24. The Chancellor of France has wrote a Letter, by the King's Order, to the Grand-Chamber of the Parliament at Ponteiſe, intimating "That the King has hitherto behaved towards them with the Indulgence of a Father; but that nothing leſs than a ſuitable Return, by a Submiſſion dictated from their Prudence and Wiſdom, can prevent his Majeſty's treating them for the future with the juſt Severity of a King, &c."

By the ſame Letters we have Advice, that the Prince of Conti having given Aſſurance of the Recal of all the exiled Members of the Parliament, if thoſe of the Grand Chamber would reſume their uſual Functions, and make an Act of Submiſſion denoting their Reſpect and Deference to the King's Will; the Members of the Grand Chamber declared, that they could not take any Step without the Concurrence of their exiled Brethren, nor think of tarniſhing the Honour they had acquired, by ſeparating from them, &c. So the Prince of Conti, deſpairing of Succeſs in the Undertaking his Zeal and Good-Will prompted him to, has quitted his Caſtle of Vaureaul, and retired to the Iſle of Adam; and there was a Report that the Grand Chamber had received Orders to tranſport themſelves.

If we may depend on certain private Advices from Conſtantinople, the Miniſters in the Seraglio have fairly outwitted the Heads of the Malecontents, by marching the Troops to a great Diſtance that were moſt mutinous, and ſeparating, under various ſpecious Pretences, ſuch Officers as they could leaſt depend on. In conſequence of theſe Precautions all Things are for the preſent quiet.

Best possible image.

The Spaniſh Miniſters have viſibly fixed on the Barbary Corſairs in this Part of the World; and the clandeſtine Traders in America, to raiſe gradually, and in a Manner imperceptibly, a great Maritime Force. It behoves therefore thoſe Nations, who in ſuch a Caſe are moſt likely to be affected, to keep their Eyes on their Proceedings in both Parts of the Globe.

Our Correſpondent at Paris frankly acknowledges, that a prophetical Account of the Weather might be given, with as great, if no greater Certainty, than that of the Conduct of ſome great Stateſmen; for which Reaſon, in Imitation of the Prince of Conti, he declines meddling any more with the Affairs of the Parliament of Paris at preſent. But he ſtill continues to them his good Wiſhes.

Auguſt 4. According to the laſt Letters from Alſace, it ſeems to be actually decided that a body of about 15,000 French Troops ſhall encamp in the Beginning of September in the Neighbourhood of Erſtein, under the Command of Marſhal Belleiſle.

We hear from Zara in Dalmatia, that an order is come from the Porte for every family in that Province to furniſh a ſoldier to the Grand-Signior; and that ſeveral other Preparations are making among the Turks, which occaſion various ſpeculations in the neighbouring States.

Auguſt 6. In Letters from Vienna, they take Notice, that among other Schemes on the Anvil for preſerving Peace in Italy, the King of Sardinia is to be invited to accede to the Treaty lately concluded between the Imperial Court and the Duke of Modena; but as yet they give no Hints of the Conſiderations that may move him thereto. Theſe Letters add, that the Court frequently receives Diſpatches from Conſtantinople, and always gives out that they are very favourable, notwithſtanding any Appearances of the contrary.

Auguſt 7. According to ſome Letters from Madrid, the Spaniſh Governors in the Weſt-Indies have ſent home freſh Complaints againſt Admiral Knowles's Conduct; alledging, that to favour the contraband Trade of the Engliſh he has empowered them to treat as Enemies all the Spaniſh Guarda-Coſtas that attempt to ſearch them; and that accordingly two Engliſh Veſſels returning from a Smuggling Voyage to Porto Bello, meeting with a Guarda-Coſta who fired a Gun to bring them to, they anſwered him with a Broadſide, and then crowded Sail to get off with their Contraband Cargo. Mr. Keene, the Letters add, being invited to a Conference, theſe Complaints were laid before him by the Miniſtry, who at the ſame Time aſſumed to declare, that the Right of navigating in the Bay of Honduras was the ſole Prerogative of the Spaniſh Crown, from which all other Nations were abſolutely excluded; and that as his Catholic Majeſty intended that this Excluſion ſhould be without any Exception whatever, the Engliſh could not complain of being treated on the ſame footing with others: They concluded with deſiring him to inform his Court of theſe Things, that proper Inſtructions might be ſent to the Governor of Jamaica, to prevent the good Harmony ſubſiſting between the two Nations from being interrupted by his Conduct.

They write from Paris, that the Diſputes between the Clergy and the Parliaments of France have ſo far ſunk the former in the Eſteem of the Publick, that the Court of Rome dares not openly interfere in the Quarrel, leſt the Authority of the Pope ſhould receeve a violent Shock, but leaves the King and his Council to make up Matters as well as they can between the contending Parties, and contents itſelf with privately exhorting them to make uſe of gentle Methods, to the End that the Church may not be rendered more odious and deſpicable in the Eyes of the World.

Auguſt 14. They write from Barcelona, that they continue to levy ſeamen in that province, in order to ſend them to America, where they are to re-inforce the crews of the Guarda-Coſtas, whoſe number is to be augmented by twenty-five, from 16 to 20 guns.

Auguſt 15. It is reported, that the Parliament will be diſſolved by Proclamation the 27th of September next; and that the Writs will be returnable the latter End of November.

Auguſt 16. By a Letter from Edinburgh, we are informed, that on the 2d Inſtant Mr. Whitefield, being at Glaſgow, and preaching to a numerous Audience near the Play-Houſe lately built, he inflamed the Mob ſo much againſt it, that they ran directly from before him, and pulled it down to the Ground. Several of the Rioters are ſince taken up, and committed to Goal.

Auguſt 18. The laſt Advices from Paris intimate, that all the Difficulties which have hitherto obſtructed the Negociations between England and France, about the Affairs of America and the Eaſt-Indies, will be removed before the Beginning of next Winter, and a Convention concluded to the ſatisfaction of both Parties.

They write from Stirling, that ſeveral Parties from the Regiments of Foot quartered in theſe Parts, are in Queſt of ſome Perſons concerned in the late Rebellion, who, according to Information, have lately returned from abroad.

Auguſt 20. The Men of War manned and victualled, are ordered for Portſmouth to join thoſe that lie ready for the Sea and Channel Service

Auguſt 21. It is ſaid, that our Court, and that of Spain, have agreed to adhere to the Regulations made by former Treaties, in Relation to Commerce; and in Conſequence whereof the Proprietors of the Engliſh Ships which have been taken by the Spaniſh Guarda Coſtas, ſince the Peace, and whoſe Seizures, have been declared illicit, are to ſend to the Governor of the Havanna a Note of the Sum, which they claim by way of Indemnity, which that Governor has Orders to pay to the Perſons who ſhall be legally appointed to receive the ſame.

It is alſo ſaid, that ſeveral Men of War will ſpeedily be put into Commiſſion to cruize in the Channel, in Order to obſerve the Motions of a French Squadron which is equipping at Breſt.

Halifax, in Nova-Scotia, Auguſt 18.

Captain Trapp, in a new Snow belonging to Rhode-Iſland, and of which himſelf was half Owner, bound to this Place, had the Misfortune to be caſt away near Cape-Negro, on Monday Night, the 6th Inſtant, in a Fog, by which Means the Veſſel is entirely loſt; but the Cargo, conſiſting chiefly of live Stock, is moſtly ſaved by the Aſſiſtance of two fiſhing Schooners, which alſo brought Capt. Trapp, and his Mate, in here laſt Monday: He alſo ſaved ſome of his Sails and Rigging, one Cable and Anchor, and Part of another Cable, &c. but eighteen Head of Cattle, being in the Hold, were drowned.

The Mackrel are ſo prodigious plenty in our Harbour, that the like was never known here before; it is ſuppoſed that 1000 Barrels have been caught and cured within a Week paſt; and it is not doubted but that, if proper Hands, Implements, &c. were to be had, 10,000 Barrels might have been taken and cur'd in the ſame Space of Time.

NEW-YORK, October 1.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in London, to his Friend in this City, dated Auguſt 6, 1753.

"-----Sir Danvers Oſborne, who is appointed your Governor, ſets out in a Day or two for Portſmouth, to embark on board his Majeſty's Ship the Arundel, who lies ready to receive him, in order to proceed directly for New-York."

Capt. Lewis, who we mentioned in our laſt to have arrived here from St. Thomas, further ſays, That the Day on which he arrived at that Iſland, being the 3d of Auguſt laſt, there came into that Port, one Capt. Maybury, in a Sloop from Porto Rico, who reported, That he had been diſpatch'd as a Flag of Truce, from Antigua, by his Excellency Governor Thomas, to the Governor of Porto Rico, in order to demand a Sloop and Cargo, that had been taken and carried in there a little Time before, by a Spaniſh Guarda Coſta: That he had obtained the full Value of both, and had likewiſe received the ſtrongeſt Aſſurances from the Spaniſh Governor, that whatever Veſſels, Cargoes, or other Things, ſhould hereafter be illegally taken from the Engliſh by the Spaniards, and brought into his Iſland, he would cauſe immediate Retribution to be made to the proper Owners, and the Captors themſelves ſeverely puniſhed.

We learn by a Paſſenger in Capt. Waite, from Halifax, bound to Philadelphia, That one John Barry, an honeſt and induſtrious Italian, having had a ſmall Iſland preſented to him by his Excellency Governor Hopſon, at a little Diſtance from the Town, conſtantly employed himſelf and Family on it a Fiſhing; and that laſt Saturday Night was four Weeks, having ſent his two Boats deep loaded with Fiſh, together with all his Family, up to Town, and obſerving at Midnight the French Indians attempted to invade his Territories, jump'd into his other little Boat, and endeavour'd to eſcape; but they cloſely purſuing, and firing ſundry Shot at him in his little Vehicle, which hull'd her ſeveral Times, he was unhappily taken Priſoner, and carried off, after they had kill'd his Dog, burnt his Dwelling-houſe, and deſtroyed every Conveniency he had upon the Iſland for Fiſhing; that the next Night, being Sunday the 2d of Sept. the Indians coming to their Reſting-place, left one of their Number Centry over the Priſoner, while the others betook themſelves to their Reſt; but Mr. Barry, obſerving his Watch over complaiſant in the Night, by his Multiplicity of Nods, very quietly diſpatch'd him with a Bill-hook that lay by his Side, and afterwards as quietly walk'd off homewards, where he arrived the Tueſday following; and making known his Caſe to Governor Hopſon, his Excellency not only gave him a Spot of Ground in the City, but otherways ſufficiently made up the Loſs he ſuſtained by his being carried away into Captivity.

In Capt. Deane is come Paſſenger, Capt. Hall, formerly Commander of the Brig Lark, belonging to Connecticut, and mentioned in our Paper ſome Time ago to be taken on the 3d of Auguſt laſt was a Twelvemonth, in the Bay of Honduras, in Company with Capt. Crowel of the Sloop Stork, of this Port, and carried into Campeachy. William Johnſon, Capt. Crowel's Mate, is likewiſe come home in Capt. Deane, and acquaints us, That after they were taken and carried into Baccalio, himſelf with both the Captains, were obliged to walk 100 Leagues back, to the City of Meridie, where they were confin'd to hard Labour for five Months, allowed but Four-pence Halfpenny a Day, and otherwiſe uſed extremely ill: From Meridie they were obliged to travel barefoot to Campeachy, where they were put on board ſeparate Ships bound to St. Andreo, in Biſcay Bay; That the Ship he was in, parting from the others, was obliged to put in to the Weſtward of St. Andreo, where he happily made his Eſcape, and travelled over the Mountains to Ferrol, and meeting at that Place with Capt. Hall, who had likewiſe eſcaped, they both embarked in an Engliſh Ship bound to London. We have no Intelligence of Capt. Crowel, after his Arrival at St. Andreo.

Mr. Johnſon further acquaints us, That there are 12 Sail of the Line, on the Stocks at Ferrol; 4 at St. Sebaſtian; 4 at St. Andreo, and 30,000 Men employed in the Shipping, and making a new Mold at Ferrol.

Extract of a Letter from London, Auguſt 18. 1753.

"Our Eaſt-India Company have been very lucky in the early Arrival of their China Ships; but not hearing any Thing from the Coaſt, is a great Diſappointment; as the Ship was to ſail in November, we fear ſome Accident has happen'd to her. By ſome private Letters, by way of Bengall, we have gain'd ſome further Advantages over Dupleix's Forces, who was obſtinate to all Terms of Peace, as he expected a large Supply from Europe, which is confirm'd to us by ſeveral Ships having paſſed the Cape full of Men; but as our Forces ſent out were arriv'd in good Order, we are under no Apprehenſion on the Side of India. Bengall has ſuffer'd much by a Famine; but when the Ships came away their Harveſt was over, and Plenty reſtor'd."

Capt. Meſnard adviſes of the ſafe Arrival of the Duke of Wirtemberg, Capt. Montpelier, in England, from this Place: That the Captains Richards and Miller were to ſail ſoon for New-York; and Capt. Livingſton for Nova-Scotia: That Capt. Davis was up for this Port: And that the Captains Reeve, Stirling and Wall, ſailed in Company with him for this Place. Two Days before he made the Capes, he ſpoke with Capt. Moore from Londonderry, bound in here.

By Capt. Stamper from Liſbon there is Advice of the Arrival there of the Captains Dowers and Edwards from this Place; alſo of the Snow George, Capt. Arthur, from Cork.

Saturday laſt Captain Wright arriv'd here from Newry, by whom there is Advice that two Veſſels were to ſail ſoon for this Port from Dublin.

A Sloop from Cork is arriv'd at Newcaſtle with Servants: Alſo two Snows from Scotland.

Since our laſt the Captains Trann, Lyon, Pitcairn and Nevin, have arriv'd here from Holland with Palatines, which are all expected this Year, and make up 18 Sail.

Friday Night laſt Charles Quigg, a Lad about 15 Years of Age, was barbarouſly murder'd by one Thomas Ruth, a Servant of Mrs. Wall's, in Strawberry-Alley. The Parents of the Boy were both from Home when the Murder happen'd, upon which the Fellow had form'd a Deſign of robbing the Houſe in their Abſence; and accordingly went into the Room where Quigg was aſleep, and with a Hatchet was breaking open a Cheſt of Drawers, which wak'd him; and aſking Ruth what he was about, receiv'd a Blow with the Hatchet on his Head, which he (Ruth) thought had killed him; but on hearing him groan a little after, repeated his Blow, which broke Part of his Skull, and gave him ſeveral Strokes on the Breaſt: After this he carried him down Stairs, thruſt him down the Little-Houſe, and threw ſome Clothes over him. He then took what he thought proper from the Houſe, and went off. The next Morning a Siſter of the Lad's, a young Girl, who happen'd to ſleep out of the Houſe that Night, came to get in, but found the Door faſt, and no Body to anſwer her; however ſhe got into the Houſe, and ſaw ſome Blood on the Floor, and in the Bed where her Brother lay, and traced it to the Little-Houſe, where ſhe ſaw a Candleſtick flaming on the Seat of it, which made her imagine her Brother was murder'd, and thrown in there. She then alarm'd the Neighbours, who came and got the Lad out. Ruth endeavour'd to get away in a Shallop; but the Maſter of her taking him for a Runaway, turn'd him aſhore, when he was immediately taken up for ſuch; and on his being brought to Town, was known to be the Murderer, carried before the Chief Juſtice, examined and ſent to Jail, where he is confin'd in one of the Dungeons.

The prizes not demanded in ſix months after the drawing, to be deemed generouſly given for the uſes aforeſaid, and not to be demanded afterwards.

We hope a deſign of this kind will meet with publick encouragement, as the ſociety, without troubling others, hitherto have done all in their power to erect a place of worſhip in this city; but conceiving the inſtructing the riſing generation of the utmoſt conſequence, and many of the ſociety unable to bear the expence of ſchooling, they have been tempted to take theſe meaſures to procure publick help to erect a ſchool houſe, and aſſiſting a maſter in inſtructing the helpleſs in the principles of religion, and the uſeful knowledge of reading and writing.

The tickets will begin to be ſold by the managers, at their reſpective dwellings on Friday the 7th of September inſt.

We hope a deſign of this kind will meet with encouragement, as the only motive that induced the ſociety to enter on ſuch a ſcheme, was their being thoroughly ſenſible of the diſadvantages they labour under, and the great neceſſity there is of a houſe in Germantown, for their miniſter to inſtruct thoſe children in reading and writing, whoſe parents are unable to give them ſuch education; and as the ſociety amongſt themſelves are unable to accompliſh ſuch an undertaking, were importuned to have recourſe to a lottery, in order to enable them to carry on the ſame, as it will tend to the publick good.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freshest Advices, Foreign and Domestick.

LISBON, June 6.

A SHIP is arriv'd from the Bay of All Saints, which made the Voyage in 34 Days, who brings Advice, that they had discover'd at Fermambuca a very large Gold-Mine of the finest Quality.

Vienna, June 27. We have received an Account from the Body of Artillery formed at Moldau, that a melancholy Accident had happened there, by the Magazine of Powder taking Fire, which blew up in the Air, and killed and hurt a great Number of Soldiers on Duty.

In a little Piece, lately published in France, but which bears the Title, Constantinople; amongst other fine Sayings and Reflections, we find this, which was attributed to M. C. Saxe, on being asked, Why he called a certain Person of high Rank, a Person of singular Worth? "I take, said he, for a Man of singular Worth, a great Lord who has true Merit; who, tho' he knows a great deal, talks but little; who is averse to being advised, and who is equally afraid to speak well of himself, or to talk ill of others." ------We must allow this to be a singular Character indeed!

Paris a-la-main, July 9. The Weather, for some Time past, has been so excessive hot, that it is feared, if it should continue, it will occasion a great Scarcity of Forage. The Heat increased so much on Saturday last, that the Liquor of the Thermometer rose to forty Degrees and a Half, which is at least a Degree higher than it was ever known to rise before.

Leghorn, June 18. According to Advices received from Lombardy and Piedmont, it is hoped, that there will be a much greater Quantity of Silk produced this Year, than there has been for several Years past.

Florence, June 22. As the Barbary Corsairs, during this Season, usually infest these Seas, and frequently pursue Vessels to the Coast of this State, Orders are come from Vienna, to fit out one of the Emperor's Ships of War, to cruize about, in order to prevent any Irregularities of that Kind, and to give Protection, instantly, to any Vessel that may demand it, by putting itself immediately under the Cannon thereof, which is the most the Commander of that Ship of War can do, without offending the Regency of Barbary, or acting contrary to Treaties subsisting between the Great Duke of Tuscany and those States.

The Hague, July 13. The States General have lately prolonged to the 1st of January, 1757, the Exemption of Taxes in Favour of all Things that regard the Herring Fishery. Orders have been sent to their Minister at the Court of Madrid, to remonstrate, in the strongest Terms, against the Conduct of the Guarda Costas in America.

Genoa, June 25. Before the Inhabitants of San Remo were reduced to the Necessity of submitting to the Republic of Genoa, against whom they had revolted, they sent Deputies to the Governor of the Milaneze, demanding to be received under the Protection of the Empress Queen; but the Answer they received made them fully sensible that they had taken a very inconsiderate Step, and that their Folly was still greater in supposing her imperial Majesty might be inclined to countenance Subjects who set up the Standard of Rebellion against their lawful Sovereigns.

Brussels, July 16. An old Man of 113 Years of Age, who lives at Hellel, a Village four good Leagues from hence, came here on Saturday Evening, to pay a Visit to some of his Relations, and what is very remarkable, came all the Way on Foot in less than 24 Hours and a Half, without being in the least fatigued.

Paris, July 23. The Chatelet has condemned to be burnt a Pamphlet, with the Title of a Letter from a Doctor of Divinity to a young Member of a Country Parliament, on the Disturbances of the Church since 1750, as containing false Facts, calumniating Words, seditious Charges, tending to Schism, and contrary to the profound Respect due to the sacred Person of the King, and invasive of the Authority over all his Subjects, both Ecclesiasticks and Laity, injurious to the Parliaments, and notoriously to the Chief Magistrate of the Kingdom, and likewise to the Royal Judges; the Author and all concerned in the Publication and Sale to be prosecuted.

Dublin, July 24. In order to people several Parts of the New-Forest, that have hitherto been neglected, the King allows to all who may be willing to settle there, a Profit of thirty per Cent. on the Materials for building Houses, and an Abatement of Ten per Cent. in all public Taxes.

Genoa, July 13. The Republic being generally well enough informed of what passes in Italy with Respect to political Negociations, as she had the first News of the Conclusion of the Treaty between the Imperial Court and the Duke of Modena. As this is an Event, that appears worthy of the greatest Attention, the lesser Senate has met several Times about it; but as the Deliberations of this Council are always kept secret, we can give no Account of the same; all that we can venture to assert, is, that the Government of this State, without multiplying Engagements by new Ones, will always concur cheerfully in any Measures calculated for preserving the Repose of Italy.

Turin, July 16. They talk here of some Propositions made to the Court of Turin, in order to give more Weight to the Engagements which the Imperial Court has entered into with the Duke of Modena.

Amsterdam, July 10. The Master of a Dutch Ship lately arrived here at Amsterdam, reports that he had met, between Carthagena and the Cape of Gatta, two Spanish Men of War and some Xebecks in those Latitudes, in order to drive away from thence the Corsairs of Barbary. A Vessel from Villa Franca, is arrived here, with 200 on Board the Turkish Slaves, who have been taken by our Corsairs, and who were afterwards sold to the King of Sardinia, who exchanged for the like Number of Christian Slaves, whom the Regency intends to send to the little Island of St. Pierre, to people the said Island.

Vienna, July 21. Every Thing at this Court bespeaks our high Satisfaction with the late Treaty with the Duke of Modena. The Empress has sent the Order of the Golden Fleece to the Hereditary Prince of Modena. Our Jewellers, every where famous for their Workmanship, say, that no Prince in Europe wears a more magnificent Collar, the Stones with which it is set are so valuable, and the Taste so exquisite. Orders are given for fitting up the Ducal Palace at Milan in the richest Manner for the Reception of the Duke, who goes thither in September to take Possession of his new Government of the Milanese. An Imperial General will command under him.

Florence, July 14. In consequence of the Treaty between the Empress Queen and the Duke of Modena, his Imperial Majesty has ordered the Governor of Leghorn to treat the Subjects of his Serene Highness with particular Distinction. And corresponding Orders will be given by the Duke of Modena.

Genoa, July 21. Letters from [illegible] of the fifth and eight Instant advise, that the Chiefs of the Malecontents had sent 500 Men to Nebbio, to chastise some of the Inhabitants, who had insulted the Magistrates, and several have been committed to Prison. The Inhabitants of Bastia, have nominated two Deputies to come hither to make Application to this Government, that M. Grimaldi might be continued as Commissary General; and if the Republic should recal him from thence, to desire that his Successor might be a Person of equal Rank with him. The same Letters mention, that the Deputies appointed by the Malecontents to treat of an Accommodation with the Republic, were not yet arrived at Bastia; which Delay had raised a Suspicion in the Commissary General, that the Chiefs were endeavouring to put off the Opening of the Conferences, in order to keep up the Fermentation amongst the People, and to favour their own private Views.

Warsaw, July 27. We hear from Sendomir, that on the 9th Instant they had a most dreadful Hurricane, which tore up Trees by the Roots, broke down Bridges, unroofed all the Houses, blew down many Buildings, and partly demolished others, none but the strongest Edifices having been able to withstand the Tempest: Men, Horses and Oxen were lifted from the Ground by the Violence of the Wind, and several of them thrown into the Vistula.

Lisbon, July 4. We are informed by Letters from Goa, that towards the End of last Year, the English blocked up the Port of Surat with two Men of War and some Frigates, in order to be revenged on the Governor of the City, who had thrust them out of their Settlement there, because they sided with the Governor of the Castle, as they thought themselves obliged to do, since their Factories and Warehouses were in the Fortress. The Governor of the Town having gained a complete Advantage over the Governor of the Castle, though the latter was supported by the English, all the Effects of these Europeans fell into the Hands of the Conqueror, who also made some of them Prisoners that had not had Time to get back to their Ships; and those Prisoners would have been in great Danger of being massacred, had it not been for the French Capuchins at Surat, who strongly interceded for them. Fortune has favoured the Dutch in this Affair, as they had their Factories in the Town, and therefore could not decline visiting the Governor, he declared to them after his Victory, that they alone should enjoy the Advantages and Privileges which the English had been in Possession of, and that while he had any Authority at Surat, he would never suffer the latter to return.

Vienna, July 28. We learn from Moravia, that on the 9th Instant, there happened a furious Storm at the Town of Wischkow, belonging to Cardinal Trojer, Bishop of Olmutz: The Lightning set Fire to several Houses, and the high Wind spreading the Flames, almost the whole Town was laid in Ashes. Besides several other Persons who lost their Lives by this Accident, the Chief Burgomaster and four Counsellors, who were employed in the Town-house securing their Archives, and other Papers, unable to get out in Time, perished in the Flames.

LONDON, July 21.

The Courts of Stockholm and Copenhagen, seem to act in Concert in recruiting their Land-Troops, fortifying their Frontiers, and augmenting their naval Force; but with what Views, or rather from what Apprehensions, these Steps are taken, is not easy to be discerned.

We are informed an Account was brought to Town on Saturday Morning last, that thirty Sail of Ships belonging to the D-----h Nation are seized at Liverpool and some other of our Western Ports, for carrying on an illicit Trade, &c.

By a Letter from Fort Augustus, we are certainly informed, that on the Morning of the eighteenth past, Archibald M'Donald, of Barrisdale, one of the Persons attainted for being concerned in the late Rebellion, was apprehended in a Wood on the Side of Loch-born, in Moydart, by a Party of General Howard's Regiment, which had been detached from Bernera Port for that Purpose. There were also taken in Company with him ------M'Donald, Younger, of Morar, Ronald M'Donald, commonly known by the Name of Captain of Barrisdale's Guard, with four others of his Gang. As they were all in Arms, and had secured themselves in a Hut in the Wood, they would no doubt have made Resistance, had they not been quite surrounded by the Party in the Morning, before they suspected any Danger. They were all brought Prisoners to Fort Augustus on Saturday the twenty-first, and closely confined; and on the twenty-eight a Macer was dispatched from Edinburgh, to bring them to that Castle.

Extract of a Letter from Cadiz, dated June 28.

"It is now so much a Fashion in almost all the Nations in Europe to increase their Marine, that the Name of Maritime Powers, which used to be appropriated to the English and Dutch only, they will not be hereafter distinguished by, for we are all become, or about to become, Maritime Powers. Assure yourself, Sir, That in this Taste, which so much prevails, there is something solid and substantial, seeing it has got Footing amongst us. You know that Fashions, if they have the least Tendency to be frivolous and trifling, do not make their Way in Spain; but we have taken Care to except this from the Contempt which we usually throw upon others: It is not from an Intent to go to War, but to promote Commerce, and so strong a Desire prevails to do this, that scarce any Thing else is thought on: A Treaty of Commerce is carrying on here, another is negotiating there; in short, Treaties of Commerce are concluding every where, so that if those which are upon the Tapis should be executed, Nations the most distant from one another would be united, the Sea would be cover'd with Ships, and the Air every where bedeck'd with Pavilions.

"If we have hitherto been asleep in respect to the Interest of our Maritime Commerce, it is now high Time to awake; Emulation to obtain or secure some Advantage, is never so strong as when one sees Competitors arise who would snatch it entirely away from us, or divide it with us. This Reason alone sufficiently justifies the Armaments of Spain. Besides, is not this the Time to encourage all Arts? What Nation does not now-a-days pique itself upon doing so? Would good Sailors appear superfluous? Are they not of more Worth than fine Laces or Ruffles ingeniously embroidered? We do not yet fix Prizes, like the English, to the best Piece of Workmanship of these Kinds, in order to excite Persons who employ themselves therein, to excel therein: But, like the English, we have a Value for Ships, and after their Example we build them. We don't think that in this Superfluity can take Place as it does in other Things; for Ships decay as well as Lace and Ruffles; but the Loss is more serious, and the Replacing of them much more important. A Provision of this Sort is unquestionably good in the Order of Oeconomy, but still better in the Point of Policy. Ships built in Time of Peace cost less, and are worth more, because it is done more at Leisure: It prevents a Want of them, and all Politicians agree, that it is better to prevent Want, than suffer yourself to be surprized by it."

Two Men of War and three Frigates are sailed to protect our Trade on the Coast of Africa.

It is reported that two Ministers of great Eminence will soon be called home to their different Courts, on account of some Difference relating to the Taking of two Men of War.

July 24. On Thursday last a Clergyman going from a Gentleman's House near St. James's to Covent Garden, in one of the narrow Streets he saw laying on a Bulk the Body of a Man cover'd with a white Cloth, with a Plate of Salt set on his Belly; by him stood a poor Woman in Tears, who begg'd his Charity towards the Burial of the Dead, saying, that some brutish People had given her Husband so much Gin to drink that it had kill'd him. The Parson, willing to know the Truth, took hold of one of his Hands, and lifting his Arm up it fell as dead, which he repeated several Times: He then said to the Woman, that his Hand was yet warm, and taking a Pin from the Inside of the Flap of his Coat he ran it directly under his Thumb Nail, which so quicken'd his Spirits, that he instantly jump'd up, made a Spring over the Parson's Head, and made clear off. This Fellow it seems is a merry drunken Cobler in that Neighbourhood, who is accustomed to play Tricks of this Nature, but had never fallen into the Hands of a Parson who knew the Difference between the Quick and the Dead.

An Extract of a Letter from Amsterdam, dated July 31.

"The Faction of the Frisons almost wholly governs the Court of the Hague, and has just receiv'd a fresh Reinforcement by the Return of the Baron d' Aylva, who, after a warm Dispute with the Minister from Portugal, went into Frizeland, where he remain'd till after the Departure of that Minister for Naples. The Frisons having such Influence, was rather the Cause of the Journey to Dieren being put off, than that the Small-pox reigned there: They, apprehending that if her Royal Highness went into the Province of Guelderland, some of the Principal of the Nobility of that Province would have Access to her, and set her to Rights in some Particulars, have therefore engaged her to go into Friezeland, and to pass only a Day or two at Dieren, in her Return to the Hague. In Consequence whereof it has been resolved by her Royal Highness the Governante, that the Stadtholder should go with her to Orangewoude, the Residence of the first Dowager Princess, from whence she can easily take a Tour to Lewarden on Occasion of the Assembly of the States, who will be convoked, in order to deliberate, in her Presence, upon the Articles which the Deputies proposed to her Royal Highness, and to their High Mightinesses, in their last Audiences at the Hague, where tho' they did not succeed, yet the Frisons are a little Head-strong, and are not easily to be rebuffed.

"It is said that the Negociation of the Count de Bentinck at London, has given such Satisfaction, as well to the States-General, as to the Council of the Princess Governante, that they are thinking seriously of taking such Measures, as to be always in a Condition of assembling, in case of Need, an Army of 60,000 Men upon the Frontiers of the Low Countries; for that is the Lacedemonian Barrier, which is thought the most proper to procure to the three interested Powers the Advantages which they have hitherto vainly promised themselves from the Barrier without Arms, Legs, or even a Soul, and with which they weakly contented themselves to oppose to the House of Bourbon. The Generals d' Aylva and Swartzemberg being called from their Governments to the Hague at the same time that the Baron de Burmania is come back from Dutch Flanders, are, it is said, to assist with Prince Lewis of Wolfembuttel at some Conferences relative to this important Object."

August 15. The Polly, Bowman, from Virginia, for London, which parted from her Anchors in the Downs the 5th Instant in a hard Gale of wind, and drove ashore between the two new Pier Heads at Ramsgate, arrived Yesterday safe at her Moorings in the River. She had on board upwards of 500 Hogsheads of Tobacco, besides a great Quantity of Pig-Iron, and other Things: and notwithstanding that she is one of the sharpest built Ships in that Trade, she has suffered little or no Damage. By which it is to be observed that all Ships driven out of the Downs towards that Place, if they will run boldly on the Chalk Rocks, there is Safety for them.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, dated August 7.

"The Councils so frequently assembled, and some of which have been of unusual Length, have not (as is generally supposed) had the Contest with the Parliaments in View, but the Face of Affairs in Europe, which in a short Space of Time are surprisingly changed; insomuch that the Minister of one of our Allies observed the other Day to Mr.  France is so far from giving, that she is on the Point of receiving Laws.

"In the North, Russia, and Russia is not her Friend, is not barely their Superior, but spreads Terror thro' all her Neighbours, who receive Subsidies from a certain Power, but are afraid to earn them. Unsatisfied with this, she is extending the wide Circle of her Influence, and at present affects to awe both P. and P. so that F----- which brought, has now Reason to fear Storms from the North.

"In Italy she has been palpably outwitted. She was amused with one Negociation, till another was perfected, and while she fancied she had discovered and disconcerted the Projects at T----, she was Thunder-struck with the D. of M's Treaty, of which she knew nothing, tho' the D's was all the Time at Court. This is very mortifying in Truth, and all the Satyrs on the Ministry are relished, though ever so stupid.

"In H too there is a Spirit rising where we apprehended the Hearts of the People, or at least of the , to be as cold as their Soil. But of late they talk even there of an Alliance, an Army of Observation, and a Fleet. A Year ago they might just as well have threatened threatened us with Hydras, Gorgons, and Chimeras; but now this Talk excites Enquiry and Uneasiness.

"Upon the whole, the Prospect is far from being pleasant. We have certainly lost Ground since the Peace, and by a War we are not likely to regain it. In the mean Time all Regard Mr. Clin's Observation as an Oracle; that tho' domestick Disputes may be in themselves insignificant, they seldom fail to raise Disputes at Home, and always excite Contempt Abroad."

August 18. We learn from Copenhagen, that the Committee appointed to consider what Improvements may be made in the Management of the Colony in Greenland, have made their Report to the King; which is said to contain many very curious and instructive Particulars; but for certain Reasons, respecting the Public Service, it is said it will not be published, at least for the present.

A Merchant of distinguished Abilities at Cadiz, has lately written a very shrew'd Piece, entitled, Don Quixot a Discoverer, in which he undertakes to prove, that the Spaniards have only explored, conquered and settled the new World, for the Benefit of other Nations, and that since they extirpated the Indian Natives, the Islands in the West-Indies have grown scarce worth the keeping.

They are very intent at Berlin on improving the Silk Manufacture, that is, in obtaining Silk from the Worms, in spite of the supposed Disadvantage of the Climate, which, however, some of the most skilful Academicians deny to be any Disadvantage at all; and affirm, that with proper Care, and under a right Regulation, as much Silk may be made as ever was wrought or consumed in Prussia.

From Paris we are told, that Mr. Nollet's Oration, on taking his Place as the King's Professor in the College of Navarre, has been universally applauded. He shew'd therein, that a Philosopher was not to be so much esteemed for Elevation of Genius or Profundity of Science, as for applying these for the Benefit of Mankind, and bending his utmost Endeavours to practical Discoveries.

We hear from Berlin, that a Company having represented to the King, that they had discovered the Secret of making Saltpetre equal to any brought from Abroad, of common Salt, His Majesty has granted them his Royal Privilege to erect Works for that Purpose at Hall, or in any Part of his Dominions they should think proper.

Yesterday se'nnight, His Majesty in Council was pleased to order, that the Parliament which stands prorogued to the fourteenth Instant, should be further prorogued to the twenty-seventh of September.

The Government has contracted for some Transports to carry Stores, &c. to the West-Indies.

Capt. Bennet in 32 days from Madeira, advises, that Capt. Deane, in a Brig from Salem, in N. E. was arrived at that Island; that his Majesty's Ship Crown, Capt. Barrington, of 40 Guns, touched there in his Way for the Coast of Guiney, and from thence for Jamaica; and that two Barbary Xebecks came so close to the Harbour of Founchal, four Days successively, that the Men could be easily discovered upon their Decks.

THE Royal Patent Medicinal Powder Snuff, published under sanction of the King's royal letters patent, being a medicine that hath gain'd so much credit for these many years past in Great-Britain and Ireland, by its operation on the head, dissipation of vapours, and warm aromatic quality, it effectually cures recent lunacies, dizziness, and apoplexies, deafness, and weakness of sight, breaks and carries off impost humations and ulcers inwardly or externally, quickens the spirits, and awakens them from a lethargic state; has likewise a very good effect in all chronical cases, carries off the stone and gravel, and brings away the polypus in the nose, cures fits, agues, and pains in the head and gums in a few minutes, or a very little time, without drawing teeth or stumps. By its power on the stomach and lungs, it gradually dissolves coagulated matter; and by the channel of the nose, by stool, urine or perspiration, insensibly carries off every kind of putrefaction; and thus removing all obstructions or oppressions on the breast, stomach, or lungs, it totally eradicates the asthma, catarrh, and phthisic, recovers to the stomach and nerves their genial tone and action, and utterly annihilates all hysterical disorders. Its singular use and excellence consists in its being pleasant in the taking, happy in the operation, and morally certain in the cure. It hinders no business, eating or drinking, and not causing but curing colds, as will more fully appear, by perusing a book explicitly opening and explaining its nature and operation, and many of the actual cures it has perform'd; which book may be seen and perused at Mr. Christopher Marshall's, at the Golden Ball, in Chestnut-street, Philadelphia, who is appointed by us the patentees and company, our only agent to vend and sell the same, and no other in Philadelphia.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

From the Weſtminſter Journal, July 14. 1753.

From my Lodgings in Spring-Gardens.

IT has been aſk'd, "Whether power to command the induſtry of others, be not real wealth? whether money be not, in truth, tickets, or tokens, for conveying and recording ſuch power? and whether it be of great conſequence, what materials the tickets are made of?" Certainly, the induſtry of any people is what properly conſtitutes the wealth of the munity; that wealth is only to be acquired by trade; and e is only to be ſupported by labour: therefore every branch of ſtry may be conſidered as a mine of gold; as it affords the per materials to bring that rich metal out of the inmoſt bowels the earth.

The revenue, or ſtock, of a kingdom, is either natural, or ficial; the natural wealth is ſo much only as can be ſpared from own uſe and neceſſities, for exportation to ſtrangers; and the ficial conſiſts in our manufactures, and induſtrious trading with ign commodities. It is the duty of every trading nation to enour to make the moſt they can of their own, whether it be ural or artificial; and, as the people who ſow the tree, and live their induſtry, are greatly more numerous than they who are ers of the fruits, and wallow in luxury; the latter ought to ntain thoſe endeavours of the multitude, in whom conſiſts the eſt ſtrength and riches, both of king and kingdom: for where people are many, and the arts good, there the traffic muſt be iderable, and the country more opulent.

notion has been too long, and too fatally prevalent, in Great-in, that our domeſtic wealth muſt naturally ariſe from the uce of our own land; while the produce of our own ſeas reed, for many centuries, ſometimes too much diſregarded, and others totally neglected: but, ſince the eſtabliſhment of the IETY OF THE FREE BRITISH FISHERY, we begin to be cious of our error, and to be deſirous of a participation of that torial treaſure, which our neighbours have ſo long accumulated emſelves.

ur Britiſh-fiſhery is yet in its infancy: though the ſeed was n by judicious planters, it required a rich ſoil to nurture it, and it ſufficient root: becauſe the tender ſhoot was expoſed to the mency of an inauſpicious ſky. However, we hope to ſee it riſe o maturity, fair, ſtrong, and flouriſhing; ſo as to have a ina crowned with the moſt beautiful apices: or, to ſpare the ghor, we wiſh to ſee the Britiſh-fiſhery continued under the tion of ſuch honeſt gentlemen, as my brave, honourable, gh much injured admiral Vernon, and his good colleagues; and eet with encouragement, not only from every miniſter of ſtate, from every man who ſhall have the honour to repreſent his try in parliament, too many of whom have hitherto looked ugh a beclouded eye, in their private capacity, upon this public valuable eſtabliſhment; for the proſperity of which I have ly inſerted the following letter, wrote by a very worthy and ious gentleman, thoroughly acquainted with every thing appurt and neceſſary to that noble undertaking.

To the Author of the Weſtminſter Journal.

Fair INDUSTRY gives Riſe to pureſt Joys;
Whilſt, like a Canker, IDLENESS deſtroys.

I R,

were needleſs to obſerve to you, who are ſo thoroughly acquainted with the ſprings, which form the happineſs or infeliity of countries, that nothing contributes more to the former, the populouſneſs, induſtry, and oeconomy of its inhabitants; from a parity of reaſoning, that luxury and indolence enerimpoveriſh, and thin the numbers, in proportion.

hat our countrymen are become too great devotees to the latter, been frequently obſerv'd by yourſelf, and many other patriot ers: however, the effect ſeems, unhappily, not to have an- the excellent intention of thoſe, who ſo bravely, ſo honeſtemm'd the torrent of profuſion and extravagance.

e love of pleaſure is now become ſo very predominant, in all of people, that, if a ſtop be not put to it, we muſt inevitaundone. What was it that raiſed the Venetians, what the to inſtance only thoſe two people, to their once envied eſs and power?---Surely temperance, frugality and induſtry. on the contrary, have ſince clouded their ſplendors, and leſſen'd the auguſt figure they once made?---Idleneſs, extrace and corruption.

as led into theſe reflections, from a view I lately took of the ling Hoſpital, and the induſtrious little tenants of it, who all employ'd in uſeful works of various kinds. I conſider'd as a ſmall hive of bees, that are perpetually increaſing; which, if duly cheriſhed and encouraged, may one day proſuch colonies, as will not only ſpread their good example to moſt remote parts of our iſland, but even under every ſky, by ing our commerce, or defending our flag: and, thus, ſhew ſelves counterparts of the Goths and Vandals, who ruſhed from native ſeats, merely to annoy and depopulate.

the above hoſpital, I was favour'd with a book of their inſti-, the peruſal of which gave me intire ſatisfaction. They , to me, the reſult of ſound judgment and experience: and, ts aſſur'd, are not barely, as is too often the caſe, the objects ulation; but carried moſt happily into practice.

ve, indeed, heard ſome people give it as their opinion, to I cannot agree, that too much money has been laid out on ifice: but it appears to me, to be framed from an elegant in which conveniency ſeems to have been much more conthan ſplendor. I am one of thoſe, who think that ſome ould be ſhown to this latter; as not only reflecting honour ntry, but being often of ſingular advantage to it: whence t but think myſelf greatly obliged to the various artiſts, emoſynary productions are a moſt beautiful ornament to of induſtry.--- It is aſſured, that St. Peter's at Rome, and e and gardens of Verſailles, ſtill continue to pay large for the ſums they coſt originally, by the great concourſe ers who daily viſit them.

I was muſing on the hoſpital in queſtion, I was accoſted ntleman, who, obſerving the enquiries I made, offered to e to a place, where, he aſſured me, I ſhould meet with ſome pleaſure. Accepting of his propoſal, he conducted me to Mr. Tull's late the Caſtle-tavern, in Fleet-ſtreet; where I found forty or fifty children, the poor of St. Bride's, braiding or weaving nets, for the ſociety of the Free Britiſh Fiſhery. At our entrance, they bowed; when, immediately, my ears were ſaluted with a chorus of infantine voices, which joined in a chearful ſong, exciting to induſtry. The tightneſs of their dreſs, the mirth in their countenances, and the plumpneſs of their cheeks, made me pronounce them happy. Here I could not forbear contraſting, with this delightful ſight, that of children who, all in rags, with faces that ſpeak want, and blaſphemy in their mouths, either incumber our ſtreets, or fill our priſons. ----As I was ruminating on theſe particulars, a friend happened to come in, who put into my hands a paper, which, he ſaid, was now circulating about the kingdom; after having being ſent through all the bills of mortality.--- The paper was as follows:

Free Britiſh Fiſhery Office, Royal Exchange.
June 25. 1753.

To the Truſtees of the ſeveral Charity-ſchools and Work-houſes.

THE ſociety of the Free Britiſh Fiſhery being deſirous of furniſhing employment for the POOR, particularly children from eight to fourteen years of age, throughout the kingdom, in order to eaſe the ſeveral pariſhes to which they are now a burden; and to aſſiſt in training up the preſent growing generation to INDUSTRY, to prevent their falling into vices now in faſhion, the bad conſequences of which are but too viſible at this time; do hereby propoſe, to employ charity-ſchools and work-houſes, in braiding of nets for their fiſhery, in the manner following, viz.

The charity-ſchool, or work-houſe, hires a man or woman by the quarter, the half, or whole year, to teach the children, &c. to braid; which is firſt done with an ordinary ſort of twine, till ſuch time as the children, &c. are capable of braiding the twine, ſo as to be fit for the ſociety's nets.

As ſoon as a number of children, &c. are become expert at braiding, then the ſociety will ſupply ſuch ſchool, or work-houſe, with a quantity of good twine, in proportion to the number of children, &c. qualified to braid. This twine is weighed out to the ſchool, or work-houſe; for which the overſeer muſt give a Receipt. The carriage, out and home, is to be borne by the ſchool, or work-houſe; and is weighed out, by the overſeer, on delivering it, when braided, to the ſociety, or their agent, who will make an equitable allowance for their waſtage in the braiding.

The MESHES are of two kinds, viz. the Shetland, or large meſh; and the Yarmouth, or ſmall meſh. The dimenſions of theſe will be both known, by the ſamples, which the ſociety give, at their office, to each ſchool, or work-houſe, or their agents, where they may likewiſe have pinns, of the proper dimenſions, for the performing this work.

The prices paid by the ſociety, for braiding, are 16d. per ſcore yards, for the Shetland meſh; and 18d. per ſcore yards, for the Yarmouth meſh. Each yard, in length, both of the Shetland and Yarmouth netting, is to be eighty meſhes deep.

It may be obſerv'd, that this ſort of work, braiding, is better adapted to children than to grown perſons.

By Order of the Council, &c.

As the introducing an uſeful manufacture, is an increaſe of riches and ſtrength to a kingdom, I hope the above propoſal will be duly conſidered by our ſeveral pariſhes. Complaints are frequently made, that we want employment for our poor. Should this really be the caſe, there is the greateſt reaſon for encouraging the above propoſal, as it may be of vaſt advantage to the nation; and endear this patriot undertaking ſtill more to its blooming governor, his royal highneſs the prince of Wales; a noble picture of whom, on horſeback, with a view of the herring fiſhery in diſtant proſpect, is now painting, by the ingenious Mr. Adolphe, of St. James's-Square.

I am, Sir,
Your Admirer, and moſt humble Servant.

ANNAPOLIS, October 4.

The LORD PROPRIETARY's SPEECH

[Tranſmitted, and, by his Excellency's Direction, read by the Clerk of the Council]

F. Baltimore.

Gentlemen of the Upper and Lower Houſes of Aſſembly,

THE Care of this Province now deſcending to me, as Lord and Proprietary thereof, I think it will not be leſs agreeable to you, than ſatisfactory to myſelf, to aſſure you, that I ſhall always follow the good Examples of thoſe my Anceſtors, who firſt enterprized, eſtabliſhed, promoted and improved the Province of Maryland: Their great and generous Motives, their conſtant Regard and Attention to your Intereſt and Proſperity, their Love and Diligence, and the Effects of it in the Increaſe of your Numbers, and the Extent of your Commerce, will ever animate and influence me to diſcharge my Duty to you, and my own Deſcendants, in ſuch Manner, that the Poſterity of both may not think leſs favourably of me, than of my Anceſtors. And I truſt it will be eſteemed one Proof of my Care, that I have, with his Majeſty's moſt gracious Approbation, named and conſtituted Mr. HORATIO SHARPE, to be my Lieutenant-General and Governor in Chief of the Province of Maryland; a Gentleman whoſe Loyalty and Attachment to our happy Eſtabliſhment, is certain, and from whoſe Integrity, Honour and Abilities, I have great Reaſon to expect all that the Importance of ſo great a Truſt, which I have repoſed in him, for the public Good and general Benefit of this Province, may require.

Gentlemen of both Houſes,

With all Duty and Allegiance to my Sovereign, I ſhall always moſt ſincerely deſire to co-operate and join with you, in preſerving the Government, both in Church and State, as by Law eſtabliſhed: And ſhall embrace every Occaſion, wherein I may teſtify the real Love and Eſteem I have for you, which I hope will be ſufficiently ſhewn by the Care I ſhall always take of the Laws, Liberties and Properties of my good Tenants of the Province of Maryland. I cannot entertain the leaſt Doubt that I ſhall ever fail of all ſuitable Returns from you, whoſe Juſtice and Regard for me, will, I am perſuaded, induce you to do all in your Power in ſupport of my juſt Rights and Properties, as I ſhall always, on my Part, do in ſupport of yours.

Gentlemen of the Upper and Lower Houſes of Aſſembly,

I Have choſen this Opportunity of meeting you upon the laſt Prorogation, from an Opinion, that your Attendance here may be more ſuitable to your private Affairs at this, than at any other Seaſon.

I cannot but take Occaſion to congratulate you on the Lord Proprietary being arriv'd at an Age to take you under his more immediate Protection, and convince you, by his tender Care, that the affectionate Profeſſions you have now heard from him, are the real Dictates of his generous Heart: And I muſt with Pleaſure acknowledge myſelf perſuaded, from the ſhort Acquaintance I have had amongſt you, that you will not ſhew leſs Earneſtneſs to maintain that Harmony and mutual Good-will, on which alone the real Happineſs and Proſperity of the Province can ſubſiſt.

Nothing can contribute ſo much to my own Happineſs, as to ſee this Province flouriſh under my Adminiſtration; but as Mens different Conceptions, frequently, in Life, prevent their concurring in the Means to obtain the End they equally have in View, I will promiſe the leſs, and endeavour the more, that every Step I take, may conduce to the general Welfare.

As ſoon as his Lordſhip's Commiſſion made Maryland an Object of my Attention, and his Commands pointed me out a Way of ſhewing my Zeal in it's Service, by procuring a Replacement of the Arms ſupplied from the Provincial Armory, for the Canada Expedition. I loſt no Time in making Application, and with ſuch Succeſs, that their Arrival may be expected ſoon after the Orders already iſſued for that Purpoſe, can be complied with.

Gentlemen.

Although the Principle of Self Preſervation, and that univerſal Deſire to increaſe the Riches of one's Country, ſeem to make every Recommendation on thoſe Points unneceſſary to its Repreſentatives, yet as ſeveral Omiſſions may happen through Multiplicity of Buſineſs, or other Accidents, I ſhall not be wanting on my Part, in reminding you, from Time to Time, of what may occur to my Thoughts, relative to thoſe important Subjects, ſo worthy of your Regard.

LONDON.

July 19. The Jealouſies entertained by three Northern Courts, from the exorbitant Power (as they ſtile it) of that of Ruſſia, have had very good Effects; and induced thoſe Courts to adjuſt Differences, concert common Meaſures, and conſent to Things for their mutual Benefit, in a Space of a few Years, which otherwiſe would not have been accompliſhed in Ages, if ever.

According to ſome private Letters from Italy, a certain very illuſtrious Sovereign Houſe has of late made an entire Change in its Syſtem, thro' the good Offices of certain Courts, which it is believed will contribute ſtrongly to fix the Ballance there, and fruſtrate all the Intrigues that were carrying on in more Courts than one, by the Lovers and Promoters of Confuſion.

Our Advices from the Hague give us room to hope, that the very important Points of the Barrier, the Acceſſion to the Quadruple Alliance, and the ſpeedy Eſtabliſhment of a Free Port, are as good as concluded; and that certain Schemes, of a very different Nature, have been ſet in a true Point of Light, which was all that was neceſſary to their being rejected.

July 24. By a curious Relation of the preſent State of Affairs in Perſia, it appears that Anarchy has made ſuch Progreſs, in that Empire, that every Province has an arbitrary Sovereign, from the Authority arrogated by the reſpective Kans, or Governors; and that ſince the Cataſtrophe of Thamas Kouli Kan, who was aſſaſſinated by his own Guards, there have been eight Competitors for the Crown, and every one have met with a tragical End.

Auguſt 4. They write from Weathersfield in Eſſex, that on the 18th of laſt Month, the Wife of John Shakeſhanks, of that Place, was brought to Bed of two Sons. It is remarkable that theſe are the Happy Couple, who after being married three Years, went to Dunmow, and challenged the Flitch of Bacon, on the twentieth of June, 1751, in the Preſence of upwards of 5000 Perſons, which was delivered to them according to the Cuſtom of the Manor.

Auguſt 6. It is thought the Reſort to the Pruſſian Camp at Dorbritz will be far greater than it was to that of Dreſden, or to that of Kitſee. Theſe Camps are a Kind of political Vauxhalls.

Auguſt 14. According to ſome Advices from Mittau, the Election of a Duke of Courland will ſpeedily be brought on the Tapis; and the Candidates for that Dignity are to be one of the Princes of Pruſſia, and the Prince of Holſtein of Lubeck. But the ſame Advices likewiſe inſinuate that Count Earneſt de Biron, late Duke of Courland, may probably be play'd off by the Ruſſian Court againſt the ſaid Candidates.

Auguſt 15. On Monday the three Men, committed to Wood-ſtreet Compter, for a Rape on the Body of Diana Puſhee, at the Queen's Arms in Newgate-ſtreet, applied to be bailed out, but were refuſed. It appeared on Examination, that they had ordered her to be ſent up Stairs between Eight and Nine o' Clock, with Oyſters, and upon her coming into the Room, one of them bolted the Door, and ſwore he would lye with her, and directly pulling out a Knife threatned to cut her Throat if ſhe made the leaſt Noiſe: The two others had Knives and threatned her in the ſame Manner; on which ſhe fell on her Knees and begg'd for Mercy, ſaying ſhe was married, and had four Children alive; notwithſtanding which the ſecond that got up pull'd her down on the Floor, and forcible lay with her, and then the firſt did the ſame, and alſo the third. During this barbarous Scene ſhe groaned ſo loud as to be heard by one of the Waiters who was ill, and lay in a Room on the ſame Floor; on on which he got up and call'd to his Fellow-Servant below, who went up Stairs, but not getting in, he raised a Ladder against the Window, and looking in, saw two of them in very indecent Situations, and lest they should discover him, he sunk his Head, and raising it again, saw a third from behind a Screen. By the Time the Waiter was got from the Ladder, the Woman had broke from them, and forcing the Bolt with her Oyster Knife, came out crying in a violent Manner, that she was ruined, for that three Villains had all lain with her against her Will. As there were a good Company in the House, they immediately ran up Stairs, apprehended, and secured the three Men in Wood street Compter, until Monday Noon, when they underwent an Examination of above two Hours, before Thomas Chitty, Esq; Sitting Alderman at Guildhall, who upon the positive Oath of the much-injured Woman against all the Prisoners, as also the corroborating Circumstances of the Servants, and the Character of the Prosecutrix being well supported upon Oath by many reputable Inhabitants, re-committed all the three to the Compter, to answer for their Offences the next Sessions at the Bar of the Old Baily. The Inhabitants of Newgate-street are determined to support the Woman in prosecuting them.

Extract of a Letter from Exeter, dated Aug. 10.

"On Saturday the 4th, or Sunday the 5th Instant, Mr. Joseph Harvey, a Farmer, at a Place called Corringdon, about two Miles from South Brent Town, with his Wife, a Son and Daughter, were all barbarously murdered by Persons unknown. The Murders were discovered by one William Prouse, a Labourer, who had work'd for the said Mr. Harvey; and going on Monday last to Corringdon to see him, to get further Employment, found the Doors fast; and thinking that the People of the House were gone on Business, went away, and called again the next Day, but found all fast as before; he also went the third Time, which was on the 9th Instant, and then likewise finding the Doors as he left them, he goes to Edward Bowar, in the Neighbourhood, and they went together to the House; and looking thro' the Kitchen Window, saw Mr. Joseph Harvey lying dead on the Floor, with his Throat cut. They then came into Brent Town, and acquainted Mr. Anthony Harvey, Brother of the Deceased, with what they had discovered; who went with a Number of the Inhabitants, and entering at the Window, found the Relation given them by Prouse too true. Mr. Harvey had his Stockings and Breeches on; and was supposed to have heard the Assassins in the House, and was come down to see who they were. Going up Stairs, they found Mrs. Harvey in her Bed, with her Throat cut from Ear to Ear; and then proceeding to the Bed of the Son, a stout young Man, about twenty-three, found him also dead, having his Brains beat out, and his Throat cut; as was also the Daughter, aged about Twenty, whose Brains work'd through the Scull. A Hatchet was found in the Son's Room."

BOSTON, October 8.

Yesterday the Gentlemen lately commissionated by his Excellency to treat with the several Tribes of Eastern Indians, arrived here on board Capt. Saunders; and we hear they have settled all Matters in Dispute, to the Satisfaction both of the English and Indians.

On Friday last the 28th of September came on in the Court of Assize and Goal-Delivery then holding at Springfield, the Trial of Robert Cooke and Stephen Cooke, for the Murder of an Indian Man at Sheffield, on the 11th of April last: The Trial held from about 10 o' Clock in the Morning 'till 9 at Night, and the Jury withdrew to consider of the Evidence; and the next Morning they return'd with their Verdict, and declared the said Robert Cooke guilty of Manslaughter only; Stephen they acquitted: Upon which the said Robert was branded in the Hand with the Letter T. and sentenced to twelve Months Imprisonment.

On Thursday last arrived at Portsmouth in New-Hampshire, Capt. Grainger, in a Mast-Ship, in about seven Weeks from Chatham in England.

NEW-YORK, October 15.

Of the Arrival of his Excellency Sir Danvers Osborn, Baronet, and the Manner of his Reception, we gave an Account in our last.

On Monday the 8th, the Honourable George Clinton, our late Governor, arrived from his Country Seat, and his Excellency Sir Danvers Osborn, was elegantly entertained at a publick Dinner, by the Gentlemen of the Council: And on Tuesday the Corporation voted him the Freedom of the City, to be presented in a Golden Box.

On Wednesday his Excellency's Commission was first published in Council; and while the usual Oaths were taking, the Corporation, the City Representatives, the Militia Officers, the Clergy, and all the principal Inhabitants, assembled in the Parade, and together with the Council, waited on his Excellency, attended by a Company of Foot, and a vast Concourse of People, to the City-Hall, where his Excellency's Commission was a second Time published. Thence his Excellency, in like Manner attended, returned to the Fort, amidst the repeated Shouts and Acclamations of the People, where the usual loyal Healths were drank; the Guns in the Common and Harbour firing, and the Bells of all the several Churches in the City ringing. As soon as the Crowd was a little dispersed, the Corporation waited on his Excellency with the following Address.

To his Excellency, Sir DANVERS OSBORN, Baronet, Captain General and Governor in Chief, of the Province of New-York, and the Territories thereon depending in America, and Vice-Admiral of the same;

The humble ADDRESS of the MAYOR, ALDERMEN, and COMMONALTY, of the City of New-York.

May it please your Excellency,

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty of the City of New-York, beg Leave most heartily to congratulate your Excellency upon your Appointment to the Government of this Colony, and your safe Arrival amongst us.

As the Course of your Education, and your Abilities for publick Affairs, abundantly qualify you for the high Station to which you are advanced, and the important Trust reposed in you by our dread Sovereign; so must your affluent Fortune naturally dispose you to discharge your Office with Integrity and Resolution.

While we cannot, on the one Hand, expect the favourable Smiles of his Majesty (who has ever proved himself the Father of his People) without that chearful Submission to his Prerogative, which is the indispensible Duty of all his loyal Subjects: So are we, on the other Hand, sufficiently assured that your Excellency will ever be ready to vindicate our legal Rights and Privileges, and be as averse from countenancing, as we from brooking any Infringements of our inestimable Liberties civil and religious.

As your Excellency's Arrival must remove every Pretence for those Animosities which have, for some Time past, unfortunately subsisted amongst us; we flatter ourselves that they will be buried in Oblivion, and happily succeeded by a firm and uninterrupted Peace and Tranquility; and that every one in a publick Station, will shew himself influenced by a publick Spirit; wherein, while we all agree, it will scarcely be possible to differ about the Means of promoting the true Interest of the Community. This we hope and believe is the sincere Design of the good People of this City, and herein we are confident of having the Honour of your Excellency's hearty Concurrence.

To which his Excellency was pleased to return the following Answer.

Mr. Mayor, and Gentlemen of the Corporation,

I Return you my hearty Thanks for your kind Congratulations, and benevolent Sentiments upon the present Occasion.

I shall make it my utmost Endeavour to deserve your Esteem, by always concurring in such Measures as may promote, in every Branch, the true Interest, Peace and Tranquility of this City and Community.

After which his Excellency, with the Council, and many other Gentlemen, dined with the Corporation, who gave him an elegant and splendid Entertainment. The most universal Joy appeared in the Evening: Two and Forty Cannon were discharged in the Common: Two large Bonfires were erected: Some Thousands of the Populace crouded the Common; and the whole Town was for several Hours most beautifully illuminated. All which presaged, and gave us the most sanguine Hopes, and agreeable Prospect of his Excellency's being the blessed Instrument of making us a happy People, under his Administration: But to the great and inexpressible Grief of all the Inhabitants, his Excellency, after frequent Complaints of Indisposition, died suddenly, on Friday last, and the next Day was decently interred in a Vault, prepared for the Purpose, in the Chancel of Trinity Church.

As soon as his Excellency's Death was publickly known in the City, the Gentlemen of his Majesty's Council met at the Council-Chamber in the Fort, where the Honourable James De Lancey, Esq; produced his Majesty's Commission, appointing him Lieutenant Governor and Commander in Chief in and over this Province; whereupon the said Commission was immediately published in Council, and the usual Oaths taken; after which the same was again published without the Fort, and his Honour was pleased to issue the following Proclamation.

By the Honourable JAMES DE LANCEY, Esq; His Majesty's Lieutenant Governor and Commander in Chief, in and over the Province of New-York, and the Territories depending thereon in America,

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS by the sudden Death of his late Excellency Sir DANVERS OSBORN, Baronet, late Captain General and Governor in Chief of this His Majesty's Province of New-York, the Government hath devolved on me, by Virtue of his Majesty's Commission, given at the Court at Kensington, the Twenty-seventh Day of October, in the Twenty first Year of His Reign, constituting and appointing me to be Lieutenant Governor of this His Majesty's Province of New York in America: I have therefore, for His Majesty's Service, thought fit, with the Advice of His Majesty's Council of the said Province, to order and direct, and I do, by Virtue of the Powers and Authorities unto me granted by His Majesty, hereby order and direct, That all Officers, Civil and Military, within the said Province, do continue in, hold, exercise and perform, their several and respective Offices, Places, Trusts and Employments, until further Order; of which all His Majesty's Subjects concerned therein, are to take Notice, and govern themselves accordingly.

GIVEN under my Hand and Seal at Arms, at Fort George, in the City of New-York, this Twelfth Day of October, in the Twenty-seventh Year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord GEORGE the Second, by the Grace of GOD, of Great-Britain, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, &c. and in the Year of our Lord One Thousand Seven Hundred and Fifty Three.

JAMES DE LANCEY.

By his Honour's Command,

Gw. Banyar, Dep. Secry.

GOD Save the KING.

PHILADELPHIA, October 18.

In a Paper by the last Vessel from London, we have the following Article, viz.

Paris, August 4. Two Carriers, employed to bring Gunpowder to Niort, stopping on the 23d past in Poitiers, near Pilori, the Mules, being incommoded with the Flies, by stamping on the Ground set Fire to some Grains of the Powder, that had dropt out of the Linen Bags, into which it was imprudently put; which communicating to the Bags, the whole blew up. The Carriers and their Mules were torn in Pieces, and their Limbs scatter'd in different Parts of the Town. Several Houses receiv'd great Damage; that of M. Vogelade, the King's Attorney, was intirely thrown down; and the Windows and Roofs of many others much shatter'd. [Some of our Dealers in Powder, and their Waggoners and Porters, being remarkably negligent in their Management of that Commodity; it is hoped this Paragraph may be a Warning to them.]

Friday last Thomas Ruth was carried to the Bar of the Supreme Court, and indicted for the Murder of Charles Quigg; of which Indictment he was found guilty, and received Sentence of Death. And we hear he is order'd for Execution on Saturday next.

On Saturday Capt. Stirling arrived here from London; who informs us, that he spoke with the Ship Eagle, of this Port, on the 3d Inst. about 200 Leagues from our Capes, bound to Halifax: That on the sixth he also spoke with the Whitehill, Capt. Wall, bound in here from London; and a Snow from Maryland for London: And that on the seventh he met with a violent Gale of Wind, about 90 Leagues from the Land, in which he expected his Ship would have founder'd, but happily received no other Damage than the Splitting of some of his Sails.

ADVENTURER, No. 69. July 3. 1753.

Vere libenter homines id quod volunt credunt. CÆSAR.

TULLY has long ago observed, that no man, however weakened by long life, is so conscious of his own decrepitude, as not to imagine that he may yet hold his station in the World for another year.

Of the truth of this remark every day furnishes new confirmation: there is no time of life, in which men, for the most part, seem less to expect the stroke of death, than when every other eye sees it impending; or are more busy in providing for another year, than when it is plain to all but themselves, that at another year they cannot arrive. Though every funeral that passes before their eyes, evinces the deceitfulness of their expectations, since every man who is borne to the grave might himself equally certain of living at least to the next year, the survivor still continues to flatter himself, and is never at a loss for some reason why his life should be protracted, and the voracity of death continue to be pacified with some other prey.

But this is only one of the innumerable artifices practised in the universal conspiracy of mankind against themselves: every age and every condition indulges some darling fallacy; every man amuses himself with projects which he knows to be improbable, and which, therefore, he resolves to pursue without daring to examine them. Whatever any man ardently desires, he very readily believes that he shall some time attain: he whose intemperance has overwhelmed him with diseases, while he languishes in the spring, expects vigour and recovery from the summer sun; and while he melts away in the summer, transfers his hopes to the frosts of winter: he that broods upon elegance or pleasure, which want of money hinders him from imitating or partaking, comforts himself that the time of distress will soon be at an end, and that every day brings him nearer to a state of happiness; though he knows it has passed not only without acquisition of advantage, but perhaps without endeavours to obtain it, in the formation of schemes that cannot be executed, and the contemplation of prospects which cannot be approached.

Such is the general dream in which we all slumber out our time; every man thinks the day coming, in which he shall be gratified in all his wishes, in which he shall leave all those competitors behind, who are now rejoicing like himself in the expectation of victory; the day is always coming to the servile in which they shall grow powerful, to the obscure in which they shall be eminent, and to the deformed, in which they shall be beautiful.

If any of my readers has looked with so little attention on the world about him as to imagine this representation exaggerated beyond probability, let him reflect a little upon his own life; let him consider what were his hopes and prospects ten years ago, and what advances he then expected to be made by ten years to his happiness: ten years are now elapsed; have they made good the promise that hope extorted from them, have they advanced his fortune, enlarged his knowledge, or reformed his conduct, to the degree that was once expected? I am afraid every man that recollects his hopes, must confess his disappointment; and own, that day has glided unprofitably after day, and he is still at the same distance from the point of happiness. With what consolations can those who have thus miscarried in their chief design, elude the memory of their ill success? With what amusements can they pacify their discontent, after the loss of so large a portion of life? They can give themselves up again to the same delusions, they can form new schemes of airy gratifications, fix another period of felicity; they can again resolve to trust the promise which they know will be broken, they can walk in a dream with their eyes shut, and persuade themselves to think that they go forward.

In every great and complicated event, part depends upon causes within our power, and part must be effected by vigour and perseverance: with regard to that which is stiled in common language the work of chance, men will always find reasons for confidence or distrust, according to their different tempers or inclinations; he that has been long accustomed to please himself with possessions of fortuitous happiness, will not easily or willingly be recalled from his mistake: but the effects of human industry and art are more easily subjected to calculation; whatever can be completed in a year, is divisible into parts, of which each may be performed in the compass of a day; he, therefore, that has passed the day without attention to the task assigned him, may be certain that the lapse of life has brought him no nearer to his object; for, however idleness may expect from time, its produce will be only in proportion to the diligence with which it has been used. He that floats lazily down the stream, in pursuit of something borne along by the same current, will find himself indeed move forward; but unless he lays his hand to the oar, and increases his speed, by his own labour, must be always at the same distance from that before him he is following.

Few have happened in every age some contingencies of unexpected and undeserved success, by which those who are determined to receive whatever favours their inclinations, have been encouraged to delight themselves with future advantages; they support confidence by considerations, of which the only proper use is to chace away despair: it is equally absurd to sit down in idleness, because some have been enriched without labour; as to leap a precipice, because some have fallen and escaped with life; or to put to sea in a storm, because some have been driven from a wreck upon the coast to which they were bound.

We are all ready to confess, that belief ought to be proportion'd to evidence or probability: let any man, therefore, compare the lives of those who have been thus favoured by fortune, and of those who have failed of their expectations; and he will easily determine with what justness he has registered himself in the lucky or unlucky list.

There is no need on these occasions for deep inquiries or laborious calculations; there is a far easier method of distinguishing the dictates of folly from those of reason, of finding the difference between prospects that exist before the eyes, and those that are painted on a fond imagination. Tom Drowsy, had accustomed himself to compute the profit of a darling project, till he had no longer any doubt of its success; it was at last matured by close application, all the measures were accurately adjusted, and he wanted only five hundred pounds to become master of a fortune that might be envied by a director of a trading company. Tom was generous and grateful, and was resolved to recompense this small assistance with an ample fortune: he, therefore, deliberated, for a time, to whom amongst his friends he should declare his necessities; not that he suspected a refusal, but because he could not suddenly determine which of them would make the best use of riches, and was, therefore, most worthy of his favour. At last his choice was settled; and knowing that in order to borrow he must shew the probability of repayment, he prepared for a minute and copious explanation of his project; but here the golden dream was at an end: he soon discovered the impossibility of imposing upon others the notions by which he had so long imposed upon himself; which way soever he turned his thoughts, impossibility and absurdity rose in opposition on every side; even credulity and prejudice were at last forced to give way, and he grew ashamed of crediting himself what shame would not suffer him to communicate to another.

To this test let every man bring his imaginations, before they have been too long predominant in his mind; whatever is true will bear to be related, whatever is rational will endure to be explained: but when we delight to brood in secret over future happiness, and silently to employ our meditations upon schemes of which we are conscious that the bare mention would expose us to derision and contempt; we should then remember, that we are cheating ourselves by voluntary delusions; and giving up to the unreal mockeries of fancy, those hours in which solid advantages might be attained by sober thought and rational assiduity.

There is, indeed, so little certainty in human affairs, that the most cautious and severe examiner may be allowed to indulge some hopes, which he cannot prove to be much favoured by probability; since after his utmost endeavours to ascertain events, he must often leave the issue in the hands of chance: and so scanty is our present allowance of happiness, that, in many situations, life could scarcely be supported, if hope were not allowed to relieve the present hour by pleasure borrowed from futurity; and reanimate the languor of dejection to new efforts, by pointing to distant regions of felicity, which yet no resolution or perseverance shall ever reach.

But these, like all other cordials, though they may invigorate in a small quantity, intoxicate in a greater; these pleasures like the rest, are lawful only in certain circumstances, and to certain degrees; they may be useful in a due subserviency to nobler purposes, but become dangerous and destructive, when once they gain the ascendant in the heart: to sooth the mind to tranquility by hope, even when that hope is likely to deceive us, may be sometimes useful; but to lull our faculties in a lethargy, is poor and despicable.

Vices and errors are differently modified, according to the state of the minds to which they are incident: to indulge hope beyond the warrant of reason, is the failure alike of mean and elevated understandings; but its foundation and its effects are totally different; the man of high courage and great abilities is apt to place too much confidence in himself, and to expect from a vigorous exertion of his powers more than spirit or diligence can attain; between him and his wish he sees obstacles indeed, but he expects to overleap or break them; his mistaken ardour hurries him forward; and though perhaps he misses his end, he nevertheless obtains some collateral good, and performs something useful to mankind, and honourable to himself.

The drone of timidity presumes likewise to hope, but without ground, and without consequence; the bliss with which he solaces his hours, he always expects from others, though very often he knows not from whom; he folds his arms about him, and sits in expectation of some revolution in the state that shall raise him to greatness, or some golden shower that shall load him with wealth; he dozes away the day in musing upon the morrow; and at the end of life is roused from his dream only to discover, that the time of action is past, and that he can now shew his wisdom only by repentance.

SCOTLAND.

Edinburgh, July 16. Thursday last arriv'd in the Road of Leith the Princess of Wales, Capt. M'Allum, in 17 Days; and on Saturday the Prince of Wales, Captain King, in 20 Days, both of this Place, from the Greenland Seas; the former having on board three Whales, and the other five. They bring an Account, that the Edinburgh, Royal Bounty, and Campbelltown, also belonging to this Place, have had a very successful Fishery, but could give no Account of the Success of the Trial (another of our Ships) and report, that the British Ships in general have been very successful. The Prince of Wales came in Company with eight English Ships, having on board some three, some six, and some eight Fish. They heard that the St. Anne, of Aberdeen, had taken five Fish, and both the Newcastle Ships two Fish each, and heard of no Losses of British Ships. They both took their Departure from the Ice, and had never been in with the land, so could give no particular Account of the Fishery.

July 23. The Account printed in London of the Success of the English and Scots Ships in the Whale Fishery this Year, was very erroneous with regard to the Scots, making only sixteen Fish among the fourteen Ships belonging to the several Ports in Scotland; whereas, in the seven Vessels arriv'd in the Frith of Forth alone, there are no fewer than Thirty-four Fish and a Half, viz. In five of the Vessels belonging to Leith Twenty-two and a Half; in one of the Dunbar Vessels seven; and in the Borrostownness Vessel five: And from the Accounts of the remaining seven, we are assured, that most of them have Fish, and some of them very valuable Cargoes.

Thursday, in the Afternoon, arriv'd in the Road of Leith, from Greenland, the Campbelltown and Edinburgh, both of this Place; the former having seven Fish and a Half on board, making upwards of 200 Butts of Blubber, and Whalebone in Proportion; and the other three large Fish. They spoke with the Royal Bounty just before they left the Ice, at which Time she had got two Whales, and all on board well. The same Day the Peggy, of Borrostownness, went up the Frith with five Fish; and the Blessed Endeavour, of Dunbar, arriv'd at that Place on Friday with seven.

They write from Aberdeen, that the St. Anne, and Bonaccord, of that Place, are both arriv'd from Greenland; the former having on board five Whales, and the other two.

July 26. We have the agreeable News from Inverness, that their Busses that went to the Herring Fishery caught thirty Barrels of Herrings the first Night they shot their Nets, which being the first taken in the Fleet, were immediately dispatched for Hamburgh.

August 9. On Tuesday last John Cameron, of Fassefern, was brought down from the Castle by a strong Guard of the Military, and after he had been some Hours under Examination by the Lords, was again remanded to Prison in the Castle.

Mullingar, June 25. Last Night Mrs. Speight, of Ritown, was alarmed in the Dead of the Night by a Noise in the House; and knowing every One to be in Bed, she gently slipp'd from her Husband's Side, and going arm'd into the Kitchen, to her great Surprize found a Fellow in it, whom she seiz'd by the Collar, clapping a Pistol to his Breast, and alarm'd the People of the House; who came to her Assistance, and secur'd and tied him fast, and this Morning lodged him in our Goal, where he is well bolted: He will not own his Name, but says he is from the County of Mayo.

Dublin, July 17. About two hundred old fashion'd Swords, with two-edged cut and thrust Blades, and Brass Cross-guard Handles, have lately been found in a Bog in the County of Tipperary; and it is supposed they are of great Antiquity, as those fashion'd Swords have not been used for many Years past.

July 24. On Monday arriv'd here the Thomas, Capt. Watt, from Dantzick, with a thousand Barrels of Wheat; and on Tuesday the Mary, Capt. Hughes, laden with Wheat and Rye from the same Port; which, with other Cargoes lately arriv'd, has greatly reduced the exorbitant Price of Bread. If a proper Bounty was given on the Exportation of Corn of our own Growth, as is done in England, in all Probability we should be able to supply ourselves in a few Years with that Commodity, and to send great Quantities abroad, as this would induce many to plow up Lands, which they now neglect, for want of a certain Encouragement.

Yesterday a short Account of the Life of Dr. Jonathan Swift, Dean of St. Patrick, Dublin, written by the Doctor himself, in or about the Year 1727, and every Word in the Doctor's own Hand-writing, was presented by Deane Swift, Esq; to the reverend Dr. Lawson, senior Fellow, and Librarian of Trinity College, Dublin, and deposited in the University Library, for the Satisfaction of the Curious, and the Information of Posterity.

Waterford, July 20. The Linen Manufacture, lately established here, seems to promise great Things; we have just shipp'd for England, by way of Specimen, about 500 Pieces of Cloth, containing upwards of 12,000 Yards; and we doubt not but in a few Years to answer the utmost Wishes of those worthy Gentlemen who have set us to work.

Dublin July 31. It being certain, that above eight thousand Tuns, or thirty two thousand Hogsheads of Claret, besides other Wines, have been imported into this Kingdom, within a Year past, is it not scandalous, that we do not make a single Bottle in this Nation for this or any other Liquor? Allowing 63 Gallons to each Hogshead, the Number of Bottles at a full Quart each, requireth 8,064,000, which at Two Shillings a Dozen would amount to 67,000*l.*

LONDON.

July 14. We have Account from Taunton in Somersetshire, that on Monday the 25*th Ult. several hundred Women, and a great Number of Men, assembled in that Town in a tumultuous Manner; and proceeded from thence to a large Ware, called French Ware, which belongs to a Sett of Grist Mills, known by the Name of the Town Mills; when the Women went briskly to work in demolishing the Ware: And they have compleated their Performance in so effectual a Manner, as to prevent any Corn being ground at the said Mills. The Men all the while stood Lookers on, giving the Women many Huzzas and Commendations for their Dexterity in the Work. Their Reason for so doing, was a Dislike they had to the Manager of the Mills, whom they charge with sending Flour to other Parts; whereby they apprehended Corn was advanced to a higher Price than otherwise it would have been.*

July 28. There are now employed in spinning and winding of Twine, in the Foundling Hospital, a hundred and twenty five Boys; and in spinning and winding of Cotton and Jersey Yarn, eighty-eight Girls; besides twenty-two Boys employed in Gardening, and eighteen Girls in Houshold Business: A most noble Charity, where deserted and destitute Infants are rescued from Destruction, and by these Means made useful Members of Society, who otherwise would have been lost, or at least become a Burthen to it.

August 4. Yesterday Sevennight, a remarkable Cause was tried in the King's Bench at Westminster, before the Lord Chief Justice Lee, by a special Jury, between Anna Kennedy, the Widow of John Kennedy, and Administratrix of Thomas Hepburn, deceased, Plaintiff, and William Kennedy, Son of the deceased John Kennedy, of Craig, in the Shire of Air in Scotland, but late of Barbados, Esq; Defendant. The Case was this: The Defendant in the Year 1714 intermarried with Mary Hepburn, the Daughter of the said Thomas Hepburn, by whom he had two Children. In 1717, he denied his Marriage with her, disowned her and the two Children, left Scotland, and went to Barbados, where he lived till 1749, when he came to London. The Action was for the Maintenance, &c. of the Wife and two Children; and the Marriage being proved, the Jury gave the Plaintiff 250*l. Damages, besides Costs. By this Verdict the Marriage is established, and the two Children, whom the Defendant their Father, had attempted to bastardize, in favour of the subsequent Children, are legitimated.*

August 18. Last Tuesday, a merry Broil happened between a Jew and a Ticket Porter, at a Publick House in Leadenhall-street: The Jew brought into the House a Gridiron of his own, in order to broil his Dinner; and clapping it on the Fire, went to fetch the Victuals: In the interim, the Porter came in with two Pork Steaks, and seeing the Gridiron on the Fire, imagining it to be the Landlord's, put his Stakes upon it; but the Jew coming soon afterwards, and finding his Gridiron defiled with Pork, in a Rage took it off the Fire, and threw both that and the Meat in the Street; on which a Battle ensued between the Porter and the Jew; but the latter was much worsted, and obliged to go and dress his Provisions at another Place.

August 21. We hear from Lymington, that there was an Experiment made on the 15*th Instant, on the Sea Shore near Soley, by M. Saturday last a Sloop arrived here from North-Carolina, the Master of which informs, that on Tuesday last he met with the most violent Gale of Wind, near George's Banks, that ever he was in in his Life.---That after it was somewhat abated, he saw a Schooner that was bound to the West-Indies, and had been overset, but by cutting away one of her Masts, righted again. He also saw a Ship that had all her Sails blown to Pieces, and a Snow or a Brig that had suffered much Damage.

We have also a Report, that two damaged Vessels are got into Marblehead, but we cannot yet learn who they are.

As we had Reason to expect Peace and Happiness under his Administration, we gave publick Testimonials of our Joy at his Arrival; and the Grief on Account of his Death, was no less evident and universal. In Gratitude to his Memory, we cannot refrain from declaring, that we look upon that melancholy Event, as a general Loss to this Province.

It is, however, an Alleviation of our Sorrow, that the Government is devolved upon your Honour; and we sincerely congratulate you upon your Advancement to an Office, which, as it will widen the Sphere of your Influence, so we assure ourselves, you will always exercise it agreeable to its Institution for the Advancement of the Common Weal, and the Interest of your royal Master, who has in this Appointment thought proper to reward your zealous Attachment to his Person and Family.

The happy Consequences which we had in Prospect from the Administration of his late Excellency, we have still stronger Reasons to expect from yours; he had the Knowledge of our Country and our Interests to obtain, but from your long Experience in publick Affairs, and your former Stations and Opportunities, you must be equally well acquainted with both.

As you have long had the Honour to fill the first Seat of Justice in the Province, you must be able to maintain our inestimable Rights and Liberties, civil and religious; nor have we more Reason to doubt your Willingness, than your Capacity, to promote the general Welfare of the People committed to your Charge.

When we consider that your Estate is in the Province, that your Relations and Friends belong to it, and that this is your native Country; it not only gives us an Assurance, that all your Measures will terminate in the Prosperity of this Colony; but furnishes us (permit us Sir, the Freedom to say it) with a Claim to your most unwearied Endeavours, after an End so honourable to you, and so advantageous to us: Herein also must you approve yourself to our most gracious Sovereign, who always considered his royal Prerogatives to be no other than a Right of the Crown, to act consistent with the Rights of his Subjects, and for the publick Emolument.

In a Word, Sir, You are well acquainted with our Interests, and your Office enables you to secure us in the Enjoyment of our Privileges: You are also under the strongest Motives to seek our Prosperity. If such is your Aim, we shall always be ready to encourage your Heart, and strengthen your Hands, while you have the Government. We can impute no ill Measures, which we flatter ourselves we have no Reason to expect, to a Weakness at Helm; but if any such should happen, we are not ashamed in the Spirit of Englishmen, to assure your Honour, that we shall always be ready freely to assign them to their true and proper Causes and Authors.

To which his Honour was pleased to return the following Answer.

Gentlemen.

I LAMENT the sudden Death of his late Excellency Sir Danvers Osborne, as a general Loss to this Province, We had all Reason to expect Peace and Happiness under his Administration; I do therefore most heartily condole with you on this melancholy Event.

I thank you, Gentlemen, for this kind Address, and the obliging Sentiments you express of me in it.

I shall endeavour, by my Conduct in the Government, which is now devolved upon me, to approve myself to our most gracious Sovereign; which I cannot do more effectually, than by steadily supporting the Prerogatives of the Crown, and maintaining the civil and religious Liberties of his Majesty's Subjects of this Province. I will with great Alacrity embrace every Opportunity to promote the general Welfare of the Province, and the Prosperity of this City, the Place of my Birth, in particular.

Last Wednesday departed this Life, at New-Brunswick, in New-Jersey, Captain HENRY COSBY, late Commander of his Majesty's Ship Centaur, now on this Station.

By several Vessels arrived here since our last from the Southward, we are informed, that about the Latitude 34, on Saturday Night the 6th Instant, there happen'd a terrible Gale which lasted near eighteen Hours, between the South-east and North-east Points; so hard that most of the Captains assure they had never met with the like before, and in which most of their Vessels received considerable Damage, particularly the Brig Charming Molly, Capt. Koffler, who sailed from this Port for St. Croix, about three Weeks since, having her Main-mast brought by the Board, her Fore-top-mast gone, and Part of her Starboard Gunnel stove in, with the Loss of fifteen Horses out of twenty which she carried out. Capt. Seymour from St. Thomas was thrown on his Beam Ends for some Minutes. Capt. Creighton in a Brig from Ditto, lost one of his Masts, and had five Feet Water in his Hold. Capt. Scot Lawrence, in a Sloop, lost both his Mast and Boltsprit. And Capt. Albuoy, in a Brig, who we hear is arrived at the Hook, has lost one of his Masts.

Capt. Hill, from this Port is arrived at Jamaica.

We hear that on the 3d of this Instant, one James M'Niel, a Pedlar, was found murdered within ten Miles of Albany, and that one Turner was taken up on Suspicion of being the Murderer, and committed to Albany Goal.

We hear from Middletown, in East-New-Jersey, that on Wednesday last the Son of one William Rodgers, of that Place, returning from Gunning, told his Father he could not get the Gun off, who thereupon taking her up in his Arms, snapp'd her, when she suddenly went off, and kill'd his Wife on the Spot.

PHILADELPHIA, October 25.

Several Vessels, which arriv'd here since our last, give Accounts of their meeting with a violent Gale of Wind, or Hurricane, on the sixth and seventh Instant. Captain Reeve, in the Ship Lydia, from London, being in Latitude 39. Longitude 66. 40. found it come on very violent from the S. E. between five and six a Clock in the Morning on the 7th; when it rain'd hard, with a prodigious high Sea. At six a Clock they cut away the Mizen-mast, sail and Yard; the Mainsail blew loose, and split to Pieces, as did likewise the Maintop Gallant Sail, Maintopmast Staysail, Spritsail, and Mizen Staysail: Both Topsails split, and almost all the Running Rigging broke, the Maintopmast sprung, and the Ship look'd like a Wreck, but prov'd tight. At eight the Storm abated a little; at 9 the Wind veer'd to W. S. W. at 10 to W. and more moderate: And at Noon it was near over. Captain Reeve afterwards spoke with a Schooner from New-York bound to St. Kitts.

The Schooner Betsey, Capt. Harriot from St. Kitts, being in Lat. 35, 29. Long. 71, 30, W. from London, met with it on the 6th of October about 6 at Night. Wind at S. E. It blew with great Violence, and lasted near 8 Hours; during which 3 of his Hands were washed overboard, but one of them was saved. The Water Casks, Caboose, Boat, and every Thing on Deck washed overboard; and his Crutch, and Cheek of the Windlass, carried away, and they were obliged to cut away the Mainmast. For 14 Days after they had nothing to subsist on but raw Beef, Bread wet with Salt Water, and about 28 Gallons fresh Water. Before the Gale they saw a Sloop from Anguilla, Capt. Hodge, for this Place; and after the Gale spoke with a Sloop from Carolina bound to Boston; and a Sloop from Providence for Rhode-Island, which had not been in the Gale.

Capt. Gurnay Wall, in the Ship Whitehill, from London, met with it on the 7th, being then in Lat. 39, 10, Long. 70. It blew at S. S. E. and then flew about to W. N. W. and tho' she had no Sail set, it laid her down on her Beam Ends. She shipp'd several Seas, which wash'd overboard three Men, with almost every thing that was on Deck, but the Men were saved. The Coals and Chalk in her Hold shifted; and they concluded to cut away her Main and Mizen Masts; but on cutting some of the Shrouds they both blew away, and she righted a little, when they got her before the Wind. After the Gale Capt. Wall had one Hand drowned.

Capt. Winter in the Ship Parkside, from Jamaica, met with it on the 6th, at E. S. E. about 3 in the Afternoon, and it held till 11 at Night. He was then in Lat. 32. Long. 71. West from London. The Ship lay near two Hours on her Beam-beads, and had 3 Foot Water in her Hold. The Wind shifted to S. W. and blew more violently, so that they were obliged to cut away the Maintopmast, and, to get clear of it, cut away the Main-yard, some of the Rigging getting foul of it. The Spritsail blew away from the Yard. On the Eighth he spoke with the Sloop Molly of St. Kitts, Capt. Peter Read, bound to New-York, who had cut away his Mast in the Storm, lost his Compasses, and all his Bread. Captain Winter supplied him with some Bread and a Compass headed up in a tight Cask, and drawn by a Line, not being able to get his Boat out.

Capt. Dowers, from Lisbon, and Capt. Aston, from Jamaica, were also in the same Gale, but had it not so violent; so that their Damage was inconsiderable.

The Sloop Flying-Fish, Isaac Cormoran Master, bound to North-Carolina from this Place, was cast away on her Passage, about the tenth of last Month; the People and Cargoe sav'd.

Saturday last Thomas Ruth was executed for the Murder of Charles Quigg. At the Place of Execution he confessed, that there was none concern'd with him in the horrid Deed: He seem'd to be very penitent, and said, That if he had a thousand Lives, he could willingly part with them, if that would restore the Boy's Life; and hop'd that his Parents would forgive him; likewise the two innocent Men he endeavour'd to impeach when taken up.

Yesterday Capt. Kennedy, from Fyall; Capt. Arthur, from Cork; Capt. Reese, from Jamaica; Capt. Edwards, from Lisbon; and Capt. Cookson from Barbados, arriv'd here; none of which felt any thing of the above Storm.

 Our Readers are hereby cautioned to beware of Counterfeit New-Castle Ten Shilling Bills, in Imitation of those dated the 28th of Feb. 1746.---Besides that the Counterfeits are struck off from an engraved Copper-Plate, and the true Bills from common Types or Printing Letters, the former may be known by these Marks. In the first Word, THIS, the S is made too tall in Proportion to the other Letters; the Letters of the Word INDENTED (except the I) are made leaning a little forward, which in the true Bills are upright; and in the Arms, the Word DROIT is made DPOIT. On the Back, the Word Counterfeit is spelt thus, Couunterfeit. There is Reason to believe these Counterfeits are imported from Germany. People are therefore desired to observe carefully what Money they receive from the Newcomers or Newlanders, or their Acquaintance; a great Reward will be paid to him that shall discover the Importer.
